BILL PROVIDING FOR INDIAN GOVERNMENT READY NEXT MONTH

Report of Parliamentary Committee Urges Self-Government of Federated India With Stringent Safeguards for Imperial Interests—Now Before House After Long Study

LONDON, Nov. 21 (CP).—Self-government for India, one of the greatest imperial problems of modern times, advanced an appreciable step nearer, tonight, with the report of the joint select parliamentary committee on Indian Government reform.

This report, urging self-government for a federated India, combining the provinces of British India and the native states, but recommending that stringent safeguards be continued, will form the basis of a Government bill to be introduced shortly after Christmas.

The report roughly would give India parliamentary government, reserving to the Viceroy the questions of defence and external relations, and also giving to the Viceroy and to Provincial Governors the right to take any steps deemed necessary to safeguard order, the rights of minorities and financial stability.

ALTERNATIVE REPORT

Nine of the thirty-one members of the committee dissented from the report as presented following eighteen months' deliberations. The Labor members on the committee produced an alternative report expressing the view that the new constitution should be so framed as to enable India to reach full Dominion status by a process of internal development, without recourse to further acts of the British Parliament.

Liberal members of the committee opposed a change from the "white"

EXTENSION OF PACT FAVORED

Canada Withholding Approval of Wheat Agreement for Time Being

BUDAPEST, Nov. 21 (CP Cable).—Russia today joined with most other countries represented at the international wheat advisory committee's sessions in favor of a two-year extension of the world wheat agreement, due to expire next July.

No country opposes the principle of extending the pact, but Canada and Argentina declined to state formally their approval until other matters are disposed of, or at least an approach has been made to their settlement. These include the questions of export quotas for the current crop year and measures towards reducing acreage.

OTHERS WOULD DELAY

While Russia, Hungary and the United States were outright in favor of extending the pact, other signatories preferred to see the outcome of proposed amendments such as subdivision of the crop-year quotas into quarterly periods and creation of a quota reserve.

The committee tomorrow will consider the question of production in the big four exporting countries, Canada, Australia, the United States and Argentina.

IS ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

Burnaby Man Freed by Jury of Causing Death of Neighbor by Shooting

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 21 (CP).—Richard E. Lange, of Burnaby, was acquitted by an Assize Court jury, tonight, of a charge of slaying his neighbor, Hans Ambrosch, on September 11, last.

Ambrosch was fatally wounded by a shotgun charge. His body was found outside of Lange's residence on Sperling Avenue.

On the night of the shooting, Lange reported to police that he "shot a man" who had been prowling around his house. He said he fired through a window, which had been smashed by the projectile. Later, he went outside and discovered Ambrosch lying face down with an iron pipe beneath him, Lange testified.

Storm Warnings Hoisted on Coast

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP).—Southeast storm warnings were hoisted today along the Oregon-Washington coast.

High winds gushed through the mountain regions of Eastern Oregon. From Bend came reports that snow streamers, several miles long, were seen on the Western skyline. They were whipped from the slopes of the Three Sisters and adjacent peaks.

McGeer Undertakes to Do Lot of Work as Mayor in Little Time

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21 (CP).—A reiteration of his promise to stamp out crime in Vancouver and to "clean house" at the City Hall, if elected, was given by G. G. McGeer, M.P.P., in his third mayoralty campaign speech, here, tonight. The fiery financial critic and political orator spoke to an overflow audience in the crystal ballroom at Hotel Vancouver.

"I said I could do ten times the work they are doing at the City Hall in one-tenth the time," the speaker declared. "I could clear the mayor's desk in an hour every morning, and I could get the business of the council through in one-tenth the time it is now taking. I think the mayor of Vancouver should give the bulk of his time to the consideration and promotion of trade and commerce in our city."

Four Drowned When Freighters Collide And Their Ship Sinks

Vessel on Lake Huron Goes Down in Few Minutes—Sixteen Survivors Taken Aboard by Other Crippled Ship

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 21 (AP).—The crippled freighter Edward E. Loomis steamed down Lake Huron to the mouth of the St. Clair River, near here, tonight, preparing to put in here for repairs to her damaged bow, ripped open, today, when she rammed and sank the freighter W. C. Franz with a loss of four Ontario seamen near Thunder Bay Island.

The United States coastguard cutter Cardigan, which came down the lake as a convoy to the Loomis, reported by wireless tonight that the four members of the Franz crew drowned when their vessel went down were: Stewart Hugh Woodbeck, of Owen Sound; Second Cook Norman Matthews, of Toronto; Deckhand Frank Granville, of Erin, Ont.; and Watchman Joseph Langridge, of Goderich, Ont.

At the mouth of the river the Loomis was taken over by tugs and towed to a point past the docks at Port Huron, preparatory to tying up for repairs and putting off the sixteen surviving members of the crew, including Captain Alex McIntyre.

One member of the Franz crew was injured in the crash and picked up by the Loomis.

The Franz, which had just delivered a cargo of grain at Port Colborne, Ont., was upbound, light, to Fort William, for another cargo.

BLAME CHINA FOR TENSION

Japanese Claim Nanking Not Enforcing Conditions of Armistice

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21 (AP).—Japan's army, spurning conciliatory tactics of Japanese diplomats, today warned China "there is no hope that the army will change" its attitude toward China until the Nanking Government abandons its "revolutionary" diplomacy.

A statement issued by the Japanese military attaché, after the Japanese military officers stationed in various parts of China had conferred here for two days, accused the Chinese Government of trying to delay announcement of several items of the Tangku armistice agreement.

IN SHARP CONTRAST

The statement, ending several months of comparative calm in Sino-Japanese relations, was in sharp contrast to the more moderate opinion voiced by Akira Ariyochi, Japanese Minister to China, who returned today from Peking.

"Sino-Japanese co-operation is gradually bearing fruit in the North," he said.

The military attaché explained that the military officers gathered here to discuss the situation so as to achieve a common attitude.

REVOLUTIONARY DIPLOMACY

He declared: "The revolutionary diplomacy advocated by the Central Kuomintang (the ruling council of the Chinese Government) and enforced by the Manchurian and Shanghai incidents."

"There have been attempts to whitewash the situation after these incidents," he added, "but, unless there is a radical change in the Chinese Government's attitude, there is no hope that the Japanese army will change theirs."

Naval Parley Delegations In Thick Fog

LONDON, Nov. 21 (CP).—The fog that shrouded London today was no thicker than the fog that shrouded the delegates to the naval parleys here between Great Britain, the United States and Japan, but Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, is to make a statement, tomorrow, to the House of Commons.

Japan having rejected a compromise of her fundamental demand for equality with the fleets of Great Britain and the United States, the only way out appears to be a compromise between the British and the Americans.

Ex-Pupils Conduct Formal Opening of School in Saanich

History Pages Turned Back as Scholars of Early Days Officiate at McKenzie Avenue—Elaborate Programme Is Presented

HISTORY pages were turned back, yesterday, as students of Saanich schools as far back as 1860 officially opened the new McKenzie Avenue School. While more than 250 guests and interested residents applauded, an elaborate ceremony was conducted.

Mrs. Louis Duval, who was a student of the old St. Stephen's Church School in 1862, cut down the ribbon to open the school formally. She, in turn, handed the keys over to Mrs. William Richardson. As this was carried out the doors of the school were thrown open. They were assisted by Alex.

Thomson and Walter Chambers, who were also students of St. Stephen's Church School in the sixties.

As the doors swung open, the assembled group sang "O Canada." Mrs. Duval and Mrs. Richardson were then presented with large bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The first speaker was "Trustee"

Victoria Member Confers With Engineers on Construction of Buildings to Cost $500,000—Plans Being Completed at Ottawa—Warehouse Already Approved

Means Hydrographic Work to Be Permanently Established

IN the neighborhood of $500,000 will be spent by the Dominion Government in permanent construction in Victoria for marine and other purposes if present plans mature, D. B. Plunkett, M.P., said, yesterday, after a conference with the heads of Federal departments in this province.

Of this sum, $400,000 is placed as the expected cost of the proposed new Marine Building, which will centralize all Federal offices; $40,000 is the estimated cost of a new hydrographic warehouse, fenders for which will be laid soon, and the balance is in other works, including extensive repairs to the Victoria Postoffice, already well under way.

MET OFFICIALS HERE

The member for Victoria conferred with J. P. Forde, Dominion Public Works engineer for the province; C. F. Dawson, Dominion resident architect; Colonel A. W. R. Wilby, marine agent, and H. D. Pariseau, of the hydrographic survey service.

In the city for the day, Mr. Forde discussed with Mr. Plunkett plans for a very early start on the hydrographic survey warehouse, which will be built on the Songhees Reserve property of the Marine Department. Decision to go ahead with the warehouse insures to Victoria.

SIGN AGREEMENT AT CUMBERLAND

Misunderstanding Between Miners and Management Removed—Work to Start Immediately

(Special to The Colonist)

CUMBERLAND, Nov. 21.—After a little misunderstanding between the chairman of the grievance committee and the representative of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, following a mass meeting of employees on Tuesday afternoon, negotiations in the dispute between the company and men were further deadlocked.

The company representative met the grievance committee this morning and the matter, which dealt with the "no-discrimination" clause, was fully explained.

At a mass meeting this afternoon the agreement was accepted by the men and signed by their representatives.

Work will be resumed immediately and it is expected that all men thrown out by the walkout will be back on their jobs within the next week.

The agreement runs for a two-year period.

Germany Divided Into Districts With Leaders Responsible to Commissar for Prices

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP).—Absolute power over Germany's prices today was placed in the hands of Dr. Karl Goerdeler, new Nazi commissar for prices.

A Government decree divided the nation into districts, with leaders in each responsible to Goerdeler, and made his dictatorship over the amounts Germany will pay for what she has to buy, complete.

In line with the drive to fight mounting prices and resulting dissatisfaction, Government officials in three days recently closed thirty-seven meat shops and bakeries in seven cities because their prices were above the decreed maximum.

Juvenile Delinquency Is Often Fault of Parents

F. C. Boyes, Principal of Delinquent Boys' School, Coquitlam, Addresses Members of Newly-Organized Social Workers' Club Here

Much of the blame for delinquency in children lies with the parents, says F. C. Boyes, principal of the Delinquent Boys' School, Coquitlam, and supervising principal of the Girls' Industrial School at the same place.

"The parent who is too strict is a weak parent. He is afraid to be natural in the treatment of the child. On the other hand, the parent who is not strict enough is also weak. Both can do a great deal of harm to the character of a boy or girl," he told his audience last night in the course of a very thoughtful and very human talk he gave at the first meeting of the newly-organized Greater Victoria Social Workers' Club, held at the Y.W.C.A.

The underscoring teacher, who either completely neglected or going to the other extreme, forced the retarded child, was also at fault. Once a child became a delinquent, the juvenile courts were also guilty of injustice in meting out different sentences for similar offences. He had found among his boys a keen sensitivity to this state of things. Something should be done to correct these punishments and make them more consistent.

TOUCHING STORIES
Some touching stories, illustrating the apparent severity of punishments, were cited. One boy of ten had been sentenced to seven years for throwing a stone at a policeman. How many boys had not thrown stones at someone? he asked. "Laws are man-made; then crime is man-made, and criminals are man-made. Yes, we may be sincere and not criminals," said the speaker.

He described for his audience not only the character of some of the lads who are in his charge, but the painfully slow routes which had to be traveled to gain their confidence and break down the barriers of reserve before setting about their reclamation. He also gave sufficient insight into the family, school and musical background of some of the children to justify his statement that parents were much to blame for delinquency in the child.

FACES SCHOOL
In facing the school for the first time, when he took charge last July, Mr. Boyes realized, he said, that every boy there was appraising him as the representative of a system that meant an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. Each boy knew he was a criminal, but a great many of them were too young to know why. They had not yet discovered this principal that laws were man-made.

Careful study, on statistical basis, had shown him that a large percentage of the lads indicted for truancy were retarded as much as from two to five years. His next problem was to find out how many were "real truants," who played truant not only for the occasional day, but who absented themselves for weeks or more from school.

Nearly all were expert truants, but in this differed only in degree from the average child, nearly all of whom played truant, or would like to have played truant, occasionally. This truancy meant that the teachers had been trying to make these children, most of whom were retarded, get high marks. Of the total number examined, only a very small percentage had actually quarrelled with their teachers, or bore them any lasting animosity. From the result of this examination, Mr. Boyes issued a warning to teachers that every retarded child, unless carefully handled at school, was a potential trouble-maker.

GUIDANCE NEEDED
"We do need a vocational guidance officer in the school, a child guidance clinic, and a guidance programme," he urged. Vancouver's bureau of measurements was of great assistance to the schools there. One of the difficult antinomies he had had to break down was in the case of a lad whose mother had expended all her affection on the brother. The one who became a delinquent had taken out his resentment on his teacher and the rest of the world. A conference with the mother had, he hoped, begun the reclamation of this unfortunate boy hungering for affection.

The inequality of justice was illustrated in the case of two boys sent to the school for stealing bicycles. One had been sentenced to two years; another, a child of seven, had been given four years for the same offence. New Westminster had, fortunately, found a foster home for the latter child.

INDIAN GOV'T BILL READY NEXT MONTH

paper" proposals on which the report was based, whereby election to the Lower House of the Federal Government will be indirect through the provinces instead of direct, but generally they stood by the proposals and pledged the whole resources of the Liberal party to the passage.

CONSERVATIVES TO CONVENE
The attitude of the Conservative party as a whole will be decided at a national convention to be held shortly. The party conference proper last month deferred taking any decision. Although the "die-hards" seemed at that time to be growing in strength, the action of the committee in stiffening the proposed safeguards may be sufficient to insure complete endorsement by the Conservatives.

Six years' examination and discussion of reform of the India constitution in the direction of greater self-government, were culminated by today's report. The question now goes before Parliament, which will be occupied with the complex problem for many months. The reforms will then be put into effect by Royal proclamation, possibly by the end of 1936—and the vast Indian Empire with its teeming millions and diverse races will then be on the threshold of full partnership in the Empire.

The report in outline recommends the following as the basis for the New India:

A federation of eleven provinces of British India and the native states, the Federal Government to consist of Upper and Lower Houses. In each Chamber there will be members nominated by the Princes and members elected indirectly by the Provincial Legislatures. At present the government is centralized.

Provincial administrations to be given greater authority, particularly as regards individual rights, and also on law and order. Each would have an elective legislative assembly chosen by direct vote of an electorate consisting of fourteen per cent of the whole population. Five provinces would have both upper and lower chambers—Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces and Bihar.

remain the direct responsibility of the Viceroy. The Viceroy, like the Provincial Governors, is to be guided in the main by advice of the elected ministers on other matters, so long as this does not conflict with special responsibilities.

In addition to reserving defence and external relations to the Viceroy alone, and through him the British Government, such questions as prevention of any menace to order, the safeguards of minority rights, and the fiscal stability and credit, are reserved to the Viceroy or the Governors. Safeguards are also proposed against the fiscal freedom being used to damage British trade.

Preservation of the rights of the civil service and the police is advocated, and of the independence of the judiciary from politics. Consent of the governors will be required to any legislation affecting police discipline. Special powers to combat terrorism would be continued.

BURMA TO BE SEPARATE
Burma should be separated from India and given somewhat the same constitution. This separation would be accompanied by a trade agreement and steps to protect the judiciary.

The autonomy of the native states now ruled by the Princes remains, so far as their own affairs are concerned, and their entry into the federation is to be voluntary. Entry of at least that number of states representing half the total population in the states is necessary.

The alternative report presented by Major Clement Attlee and other Labor committee members, in addition to urging the enabling of self-progress towards Dominion status, says they recognize the need of continued safeguards, but mainly for the protection of the masses from exploitation.

OPPOSE SECOND CHAMBERS
The Labor members strongly oppose the creation of second chambers in the legislatures. Their report says it is considered that while the provinces should be allowed to "experiment" with the Westminster system, the responsibility at the centre should be exercised mainly through committees of the legislature on the lines of the constitution of Ceylon.

The minority report declares there should be only one legislative chamber at the centre, in which Labor should be given twenty-six seats instead of ten as proposed in the white paper. The Viceroy further should have special responsibility for safeguarding the financial stability and credit of the federation, it declares.

Isaac Foot, M.P., who represented the Liberal party on the committee, along with the Marquess of Reading, former Viceroy, and Lord Lothian, declared the Liberals generally stood by the proposals, "and the whole resources of the Liberal party in the House and the country may be relied upon to carry through what is, on the whole, an immense advance to Indian self-government."

CRITICISM IN INDIA
DELHI, Nov. 21 (CP Cable via Reuters).—Indian opinion of the select parliamentary committee's report on Indian government reform, announced tonight to censure of the committee's failure to endorse the ideal of Dominion status, and its provision on the contrary of "a rigid constitution unsuited to growth."

All political parties, however, with the possible exception of the Congress (Nationalist) party, realize the desirability of using the powers provided to advance, by constitutional means, legislation promoting economic and social improvement.

The report, judging from the consensus here, is considered to reveal the alleged weaknesses of the projected constitution, particularly the two-chamber system for the proposed Federal government, criticized here as tending to prevent any real and voluntary partnership between the British and Indian peoples.

Some expressed the hope of securing early revision of such a constitution as is envisaged, particularly in the event of a Labor Government coming to power in England.

The Statesman, English-speaking organ, found the report "a state paper of the highest importance and more inspiring than the white paper" on which it was based.

The National Call, official organ of the Congress party, said the report justified fear of British and Indian Liberals by surrendering to the clamor of British "die-hards." "The shadow of responsibility contained in the white paper is made still more illusory by the report's reactionary recommendations, and the Indian problems have merely been shelved," it added.

P. N. Sapat, a leading Liberal member of the Council, said the proposed reforms were not calculated to satisfy any reaction of responsible opinion. He regarded rejection of the scheme for direct elections at the centre as depriving the original white paper scheme of its one merit—its educative influence on the masses.

"The proposed reforms rule out

Five Killed and Nineteen Injured In Bangkok Crash

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 21 (AP).—Five persons were killed today and nineteen injured when a Siamese-operated airplane crashed into a crowd watching the take-off at the airport. The plane's undercarriage struck an automobile parked at the edge of the field, catapulting the machine into the closely packed bystanders.

democracy at the centre. They are a mere camouflage in regard to progress to home rule, and calculated to reinforce the vested interests' proposals," he added. "They fail to remove the suspicions of Indians of all shades of opinion and are unlikely to pave the way to better relations, or prevent further trouble and still greater bitterness."

Indian-owned newspapers unanimously found the select committee's proposals retrograde, claiming that they indefinitely defer the promise of responsibility that should be introduced at the centre and in the provinces, and emphatically declared they should be rejected.

"DAMNED BY DELAY"
BOMBAY, Nov. 21 (CP Cable via Reuters).—"We do not suppose the select committee's report will find much support in India generally," commented The Times of India on the Indian report presented today. "In some important details it has been damned by delay and the curtailment of white paper recommendations will add to its unpopularity."

"Some of the safeguards proposed in the white paper are overdone. Some of the restrictions proposed by the select committee are irritating and unnecessary, but flat rejection of the 'white paper' scheme on these grounds would be playing into the hands of the 'die-hards' in England, who are out to wreck anything beyond provincial autonomy."

Charge of Murder Against Montreal Dancer Reduced—Claimed Self-Defence

MONTREAL, Nov. 21 (CP).—Only one chapter remains to be written to complete the tragic story of the slaying of William Owen, Montreal bond salesman, and it will be added two or three weeks hence when Lillian Morel, dancer, charged with the murder, is sentenced for manslaughter, the count on which she was convicted by jury here today.

In his charge to the jury, Mr. Justice Charles A. Wilson declared the case hinged primarily about the statements accused made to police after Owen had been stabbed in her apartment. The statement, admitted into the record of the case, claimed the girl had stabbed Owen in self-defence, after he had threatened to choke her, in a drunken rage.

SENTENCED TO 100-YEAR TERM

Transient Convicted of Robbery and Shooting Two Montana Woodcutters

KALISPELL, Mont., Nov. 21 (AP).—Revealing his true name as Martin J. Wallace, of Perham, Minn., a man known here as John A. Harms, transient, pleaded guilty today to charges of robbing and shooting two woodcutters near Nyack last week and was sentenced to 100 years in the Montana penitentiary.

Wallace was arrested at Rising Wolf, near the southern boundary of Glacier National Park. He was rescued from violence at the hands of angry men and rushed here, where he was guarded carefully because of threats of lynching.

He was accused of robbing Burt Jannusch and Ira T. Ridenour, woodsmen of Pendroy, of $65, then shooting each in the head and leaving them for dead in the forest. He took the truck the men had been loading with poles, they said, and fled eastward.

An officer forced the fleeing man's machine off the road but the attacker escaped and fled on foot through a dense forest. He was apprehended at Rising Wolf, where he had asked the railroad station operator to halt a Great Northern train so he could board it.

Physicians said Jannusch and Ridenour are recovering from their head wounds.

DOMINION OFFICES TO BE BUILT HERE

toria, the permanency of the Pacific headquarters of the hydrographic survey work in Canada, while plans for the actual building will comprise facilities for complete repair services of hydrographic boats and their equipment.

WOULD UNITE OFFICES
For a number of years Mr. Plunkett has been working for a new Federal marine building here. The original plans called for a $100,000 structure on the Industrial Reserve. Through the intervention of the member for Victoria, plans are now under advisement at Ottawa for erection of a four or five-story building on the site of the original Marine Building, at a cost in the neighborhood of $400,000. Such a building would house all Federal offices here, and contain provision for extension later to an eight-story structure.

Plans for the main building, which would have its own wharves on the east side of the harbor, and rest on Wharf Street property, with a frontage of approximately 140 feet, are now under review at Ottawa. These are expected to be submitted to the Dominion Cabinet shortly, when application will be made for the additional sums required.

HAVE MANY SERVICES

Though its initial cost would be a little higher, the proposed marine building would contain provision for all Federal offices here, including the Marine Agency, the Department of National Revenue, the Indian Agency, the Farm Loan Board, the Radio Telegraph Branch, Hydrographic Survey, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Dominion Agricultural Services and the Harbor Master. Weather signals now carried at the Belmont Block would be transferred to the roof of the new structure.

From the centralization of these offices would come, it is pointed out, a material saving in rents now paid for incidental accommodation at many different points, while centralization would add to efficiency of Federal operations here. The land-line telegraph would remain in the former Postoffice Building, on Government Street, it is believed.

PLAN EARLY START
For the hydrographic warehouse, elaborate plans are in course of preparation, and tenders will be called after their revision by J. P. Forde and Federal officers. The warehouse will have ample room for the repair and overhaul of small boats used in the service, and for the multitude of necessary equipment needed in connection with the operation of the William J. Stewart, a survey vessel, here.

Special cranes, metal-working shops and other details are part of the plan, designed to give a thoroughly up-to-date base depot for survey work on this Coast. Last year additional wharfage was added for the survey craft, involving extensive blasting to secure depth.

OTHER PROJECTS

While the foregoing refers to contemplated permanent new construction which would be carried out in the course of the next eighteen months, a considerable amount of work is already under way in connection with repairs and maintenance to Federal buildings throughout the province, including road works. Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt have all shared in these projects.

In Victoria, revolving doors are being put at the entrance to the Postoffice, a large open span will replace three sectional doors in the main lobby, and much incidental renovation to roofs, sidewalks and corridors is under way. At Esquimalt, extensive plans are under review for additions and repairs at the Naval Barracks, while in Saanich, roadwork in connection with the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory and other projects have already been launched.

The sum total of all these plans, it is confidently expected, will reach an expenditure of at least $500,000 in Victoria and vicinity, most of which will go into permanent construction on a needed basis.

Province Renewed Request for Work Votes in Canada

British Columbia Advocated Billion Dollar Programme Year Ago, Premier Pattullo Recalls—Request for New Appropriation Resubmitted

BRITISH Columbia has renewed at Ottawa a proposal that a generous appropriation should be made this year by the Dominion Parliament to stimulate new construction and the repairing of existing buildings, Premier Pattullo said, yesterday, in commenting on the suggestion of H. H. Stevens, M.P., that $1,000,000,000 should be provided for housing and construction.

The Premier recalled that a year ago he had himself advocated Federal provision of a sum in the neighborhood of $200,000,000 a year, for five years, for construction purposes. In reference to the Stevens suggestion, the Premier remarked:

PROPOSAL RENEWED
"As everybody knows, for a very considerable time I have been advocating a substantial programme of public works enterprise. Some days ago I wrote to Prime Minister Bennett suggesting that a generous appropriation should be made this year by the Dominion Parliament to stimulate not only new construction but repairing of buildings worth while repairing."

"This would be a self-sustaining measure and would stimulate almost every line of endeavor. It will be recalled that the Dominion appropriated $25,000,000 after the war, for better housing, of which this Province secured a substantial amount, and nearly six hundred houses were built in British Columbia," the Premier concluded.

NAME OFFICERS FOR NEW CLUB

Greater Victoria Social Workers Organize—Frank Paulding President

FRANK PAULDING

A Greater Victoria Social Workers Club, membership in which is open to representatives of practically every authentic social welfare organization of the city, was formed at a well-attended meeting, held last evening, at the Y.W.C.A.

A constitution was adopted, and the following officers were elected by the adoption, en bloc, of the report of the nominating committee presented by Mrs. Florence Mutrie: Honorary president, Dr. H. M. Cassidy; president, Frank Paulding; vice-president, Miss E. J. Herbert; recording secretary, Dr. Davidson; corresponding secretary, Miss Mabel Blackley; and treasurer, Mr. Cooper. Miss Elizabeth Grubb was named programme convener, and Mrs. F. Mutrie membership convener.

Monthly meetings will be held, but at present no specific date has been set for these in the constitution. The next meeting, however, will take place on Tuesday, December 11, at 8 p.m., in the Y.W.C.A. The annual meeting is to be held in April. The nominating committee is to be appointed in March. Ten per cent of the membership will constitute a quorum at any general meeting of the club, and the chairman and three members of the executive will constitute a quorum of the executive.

Shareholders of Bank of Canada Select Nominee

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21 (CP).—W. C. Woodward, Vancouver departmental store head, today, was named Vancouver's nominee for a British Columbia candidate on the new Central Bank of Canada directorate.

Mr. Woodward received a majority vote of some 100 shareholders over four other Lower Mainland business men at a meeting sponsored by the Vancouver Board of Trade.

The other four were: J. N. Harvey, Clarence W. Copp and E. B. McMaster, of Vancouver, and L. B. Lushy, of New Westminster.

Friend—Why do you have such mis-spelled words and such bad grammar on the signs in your windows?

Storekeeper—People think I'm a fool and they come in expecting to get the best of me. Business is the best I've had in years.

Hugh Davidson Made Chairman Of Milk Board

AS predicted, recently, in these columns, Hugh Davidson, former British Columbia liquor commissioner, was selected by the Government, yesterday, as chairman of the Lower Mainland Milk Board, set up under market control legislation. Mr. Davidson will be assisted by William J. Park, representing organized producers in the Fraser Valley, and by William T. McArthur, on behalf of independent producers in the area. The Government will leave to the Milk Board decision as to the exercise of pooling powers under Provincial statute. Hon. K. C. MacDonald announced, before leaving on the afternoon boat for the Okanagan.

CANDIDATES TO BE SUPPORTED

Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association to Sponsor Aspirants in Election

Election rumblings were heard in Esquimalt last night, as the municipal Ratepayers' Association agreed to sponsor candidates for office in the January election.

Although no names were definitely placed on a ballot slip at last night's session, the association agreed that a special meeting would be held on Wednesday, December 19, and candidates selected then.

The association will sponsor aspirants for reeve, three municipal council seats, two school board posts and one police commission seat.

Candidates will be selected by popular vote at the December 19 meeting. All ratepayers are especially urged to be present.

Bishop G. E. Lloyd, president of the association, stated that certain candidates now in office who will seek re-election will be supported by the ratepayers' body. He did not, however, name any of the incumbents.

ENDORSES PLAN OF UNEMPLOYED

Trades and Labor Council Approves Demands for Submission to Government

Full endorsement of the demands of the unemployed for increased relief allowances was given by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council at its regular meeting last night.

The demands are presented by the Vancouver Island Section of the Joint Committee on Unemployment and contain the following:

"That direct relief be immediately increased 50 per cent of the present Government standard relief scale, plus 40 per cent on increased food allowance for fuel, clothing and light, plus extra rent allowance, and that this scale be made applicable in all sections of this Province to be administered by Provincial and not municipal authorities; all relief to be paid in cash.

FOOD ALLOWANCE

"That the present food allowance to single persons be increased to 45 cents per day, with the means to eat and sleep in a place of their own selection. A minimum of $1.75 per week per person for room allowance. That an immediate outfitting of suitable winter clothing be given to all single persons, and the establishment of a clothing allowance amounting to 40 per cent of the requested food allowance. That the present policy of the Government, which now forces single girls to accept any position in lieu of relief, to be immediately abolished, and that no person be coerced through need to leave their home domicile for another domicile, such as relief camps, hostels, etc.

FREE TREATMENT

"That free and adequate medical, dental, optical and surgical treatment, also hospitalization, including pre-natal and maternity care, be provided for all those unable to pay for same."

These demands, it was explained by E. Logan, who addressed the Trades and Labor meeting, will be presented to the Provincial Government on December 4 by a delegation from the unemployed committee.

NEW CANDIDATE IS ANNOUNCED

E. E. Bragg Is Eighth Aspirant for Aldermanic Honors—Other Offices Uncontested

Ernest Edward Bragg, of 1272 Centre Road, who was one of the unsuccessful candidates in the last civic election, will run for alderman in the forthcoming election, he announced yesterday.

His candidature brings the total of those seeking seats on the aldermanic board to eight. There are five vacancies to fill. Those now in the field are: Aldermen Walter Luney, Dr. J. D. Hunter and Andrew McGavin; Mrs. Alice McGregor, F. J. Crowhurst, Walter Inward, Edward Williams and E. E. Bragg.

The aldermanic board is the only one where a contest has so far been assured. For the vacancies on the school board there are just sufficient candidates to fill the vacancies, so that if no one else is announced, election will be acclamation. This also applies to the office of mayor, for which the incumbent is the only candidate so far in the field.

GRAND OPERA IS ASSET TO CITY

Harry Langley Tells Music Teachers About New Philharmonic Group

The tremendous significance of a highly developed musical and art consciousness to any community in the ethical, aesthetic and commercial sense, was pointed out in an address given by Harry Langley, manager of the recently-formed Victoria Philharmonic Society, at the luncheon meeting of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, held yesterday at the Y.W.C.A.

Mr. Langley explained the meaning of "Philharmonic," compounded from the two root words meaning "love of harmony." The effect of such an organization as a Philharmonic should prove of immense value to Victoria in the art sense, as a means through which the people could hear the grand opera which they are denied by their position from enjoying either from touring or stationary operatic companies; and in the commercial sense as a means of entertaining the people and providing another major attraction to draw and hold the tourist here.

"Grand opera," said Mr. Langley, "is the drama of life set to music. It is the story of man set to music; it represents man's quest for the invisible; his explorations in the field of nature; his awe and adoration of a million worlds floating in space; his worship of the beautiful; it is life with all its turmoil, its hopes and fears, its passions, jealousies and loves."

COMMUNITY UPLIFT

The production of grand opera in Victoria would be an uplift to the whole community. Indications during the past year had pointed to a revival of grand opera throughout the continent. Idealism was seeking the realization of age-old ideas of Utopia. In this respect the operas had much to teach, with their heroic strength, their high ethical thought expressed in music of the greatest and most expressive kind.

Mr. Langley touched on some of the more famous grand operas, with special reference to those of Gounod, Verdi and Wagner. The intention of the Philharmonic Society was to present "Il Trovatore" in the near future, as the first of a series, under the distinguished leadership of Basil Horsfall.

The luncheon session, during which Mr. Langley spoke, was presided over by a business session, at which about thirty-five members and guests were present. Reginald Cox, the president, was in the chair, and announced that an invitation had been received from Mrs. Paget Mellor, 1117 McClure Street, for a two-piano recital to be given at her home on Thursday, November 29, by Gwen Harper and E. Holloway.

EX-PUPILS CONDUCT SCHOOL OPENING

Walter P. Jeune, chairman of Saanich School Board, speaking on behalf of the municipal council, on behalf of that body, Trustee Jeune declared that co-operation between the staff and the parents was essential for success of the school. He felt that parents having a complaint should first approach the teacher, then the school principal, and, as a last resort, the municipal school board. "Follow these lines and we will have a really fine school," he concluded.

EDUCATION ESSENTIAL

Reeve William Crouch, speaking on behalf of the municipal council, stated that the new structure was a sign of the tremendous advance in school housing in the last fifty years. He pointed out that education in these times of stress was essential for the children of today.

Reeve Crouch declared he was pleased to state that the sixteen grade schools in Saanich were free from debt, the three high schools being the only institutions with money owing on them. This was a great aid to the taxpayers, he averred.

Reeve Alex Lockley, Esquimalt, spoke for a few minutes in a humorous vein. He urged the school pupils to study and co-operate in every way with their instructors. He declared, in line with previous speakers, that co-operation was necessary for the well being of the new school. "There never was a time in the history of the world when education was such a necessity," said Reeve Lockley.

VICTORIA GREETINGS

"The Victoria School Board has always taken a keen interest in the school activities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. We in the city at one time had to accommodate your high school students. You have, however, relieved us of that responsibility. There is still one institution all students can attend, and that is Victoria College," said Trustee George Jay, in conveying greetings from the city school board. He remarked that Saanich children always had a fine record in academic pursuits.

Trustee Samuel J. Drake brought brief but cordial congratulations to Saanich from the Oak Bay School Board. Edward Williams, contractor, and Eric Clarkson, architect, also spoke. Both speakers paid high tribute to Robert Brydon, school board secretary, for the work he had done in aiding in the erection of the school.

SPIRIT LAUDED

J. Arthur Colbert, school principal, thanked the guests for the many tributes paid the school, and said the teaching staff would do their utmost to make the school a "going concern." He said he was greatly pleased with the fine community spirit displayed. This, continued Mr. Colbert, moulded teachers and parents into one organization for the all-important task of citizen-making.

Trustee Albert E. Hull, chairman of school board works and grounds committee, presided. He stated that LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP).—The season's worst fog, which, for the last three days, has plagued most of England, closed again around London, early today, thicker than ever. It tied up sea traffic in the Thames and snarled traffic throughout the metropolis.

Flares and other devices, coupled with increased police control, failed to cope with groping traffic tangles in London. Hundreds of motorcars and buses were stalled at the curb and many of their occupants passed the night in the vehicles.

NAVAL SECURITY

All expert advice shows that the prime duty of Great Britain in connection with her naval requirements is in the vital matter of cruiser strength. That strength was sadly depleted under the terms of the London Naval Conference. The Board of Admiralty at that time insisted on a minimum of seventy cruisers. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald reduced that minimum to fifty. He did more in that respect because he agreed to replacement and tonnage limitations which have meant that Britain's allowance has been no more than thirty-five effective cruisers. That is a number definitely below the margin of safety. Britain, in the light of the development of world conditions, has again to concentrate on the task of looking after those factors of security which are primarily her own business.

The Speech from the Throne opening Tuesday's session of Parliament in Britain indicates that steps will be taken for naval security. The British Government has learned, after years of patient effort, that its gestures towards disarmament have been in vain. It has been unilateral disarmament carried to a point where the Empire as a whole has lost prestige in world affairs. Britain has suffered from the fact that her present Prime Minister is too internationally-minded, and Mr. MacDonald himself has had to reconstruct his views and change his outlook so that his Government may deal with things as they are. After all, from Britain's viewpoint, the safety of the Empire is the first consideration. That safety still depends on naval strength.

A SILVER FAILURE

The claim was made by silver enthusiasts some few years ago that one of the causes of economic depression was the depreciation in the value of silver in terms of gold. This argument impressed the United States buttressed as it was by the claim that the welfare of vast masses of people in the Orient depended on silver. An artificially high value was set on the metal and the American Treasury set itself to the task of buying up silver at the fixed price.

The masses in Asia have not been benefited. China has been protesting that the new value of silver is hurting her people by leading to its export. China has now prohibited such export. Any careful observer would have foreseen this result. If silver is to go out of China then something must be brought in in exchange for it. When silver has a higher value than more, or more valuable, goods must be exchanged for it. In the United States the new status of silver has not affected business one iota. The financial experts, on whose advice the value of the metal was raised, prognosticated a new era of progress which has failed to materialize. Obviously whatever have been the causes of world depression the low price of silver has not been one of them. The restoration of its value has hindered rather than helped the myriad population of China. The silver manipulation is another instance of artificial remedies which have failed in any sense to affect alleviation, let alone a cure, for whatever may be the economic ills of humanity.

SOCIALISM AN AUTOCRACY

The paradox of Socialism is the studiously-engineered international rift of opinion as to what the doctrine expresses. The propagandists in British lands, understanding the attitude of British peoples, proclaim that they are opposed to Nazism and to Nazism; yet Nazism is Socialism, pure and simple. Its political party is the National Socialists. Its aim in Germany is to make all things subordinate to State domination. It is the Socialism which stifles liberty of speech and liberty of thought. The same Socialism is proclaimed, under somewhat different tenets, in Russia. There, a resolute minority exercises the powers of dictatorship backed by armed force. Socialism, wherever planned, is a futile expression of political faith unless back by a dictatorship. The idea of the dictatorship is kept very far in the background by the propagandists of Socialism in British lands, because they know that the peoples concerned are too far advanced politically ever to give up again the freedom for which they fought and won through the centuries that have passed.

Professor F. J. C. Hearnshaw, writing in The Contemporary Review, says there is a violent contrast between Russian and Western democratic policies. In Great Britain and other democracies it is the people who have acquired the power. They have realized Abraham Lincoln's dictum of government as that "of the people, by the people, for the people." There is the ascendancy of the general will through the ballot paper. There is recognition of the reign of reason as opposed to autocratic rule. That reign means freedom of speech and freedom of the press. Dictatorship, which is an essential of Socialism, means the negation of democracy, and means as well that freedom must disappear.

In Russia there is a dictatorship because the Proletariat, and it is a dictatorship because the Proletariat has no voice in the matter of government. Thus the citizen is deprived of a voice in government, and hence the ideal of citizenship becomes degraded. There is suppression of freedom in the spheres of religion and politics. Thus the attempt is to obliterate independent thinking. Under Socialism in Germany, that country, says Professor Hearnshaw, has lost the leadership she once had in intellectual matters. The Socialist, or Nazi terror, hangs like a blight over the whole horizon. Professor Hearnshaw, commenting on the dictatorships of these latter days, says: "Bolshevism in Russia, Fascism in Italy, National Socialism in Germany, stand supreme and solitary. All rival parties are extinguished. No change of administration can be effected except by violent revolution, and to obviate the ever-present peril of such a revolution, dictatorship does not shrink from the extremist measures of espionage and terrorism. The life of suspects is made a hell from which death is a welcome release."

Professor Hearnshaw draws attention to the fact that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." That knowledge should be the guarantee that there will never again be a dictatorship in British lands. People, however, appear too supine in the face of Socialist propaganda, because it is of the insidious sort which deals purely with economic matters and batters on the woes created by a temporary depression. Its main motives lie underground. They are never discovered until Socialism is able to gain power. Then, as in Russia and Germany, the two outstanding instances of Socialism in the saddle, the purposes of autocracy and repression are disclosed, and steps are taken, whatever the public will, to perpetuate Socialism in office by a process of cowering the people.

There seems to be a general consensus of world opinion that the Nobel Prize for Literature has been admirably awarded this year. It may be doubted, however, if any of our High School students ever heard of Mr. Luigi Pirandello until his name appeared in this connection. The fact is that the Sicilian author has been mentioned as a likely recipient of this prize since 1927. It was not until he had reached the age of forty-five that he became a playwright. That was twenty-two years ago and he is now an author-manager. There are few more prolific writers and one of the few Mr. H. G. Wells. Pirandello had written five books of poetry before he was twenty-three years old. He followed these with twenty books of short stories and three novels. As a playwright he is known as the Italian "Shaw" chiefly because of the profusion of ideas which demand mental alertness from the audiences who witness his plays. Probably the best known of his plays is Henry VI, the story of a German Emperor who died in 1050. Another play, probably better known to audiences on this continent, is "As You Desire Me," which was filmed with Greta Garbo in the role of the feminine heroine. The boast of Pirandello in the matter of his plays is that he has contributed to the effort to convert the intellect into passion.

The law has never decided, finally and unalterably, whether a man or woman can swear to his or her own age, and be believed by the court. The reason is that it is impossible to give better than hearsay evidence regarding age, even if backed by a birth certificate. "What," asks The London Daily Telegraph, "is more common than to be world-weary at twenty and a bright young thing at fifty?" The ultimate reality that we are as old as we feel has no relevancy when it comes to a question of evidence.

MR. H. H. STEVENS

The case against the retiring Minister is that, in the pamphlet which he prepared and put into circulation, he accepted as proved the charges brought against leading financial and business firms, without waiting for the Royal Commission of which he was the chairman, to report, or even to finish the taking of its evidence, thus prejudicing them both before the Commission in public opinion and proving his unfitness to preside over the inquiry. His reply is that what is called a pamphlet was really a memorandum intended, not for publication, but for the information of fellow Conservative Members of Parliament interested in economic questions; that the statements in it are true, based on evidence received by the Committee, as it then was, and tabled in Parliament in the form of an interim report; that the firms whose methods he criticized had been given every opportunity by the Committee to rebut this evidence; and that if he had criticized corporations which were callously indifferent to the welfare of the workers, his object had been to enlist public support for policies which the Government might ultimately adopt to rectify conditions.

In all the circumstances it was inevitable that the Cabinet should rid itself of a member whose action, deliberate or inadvertent, had caused so much embarrassment.—The London Times.

News and Nonsense

By M. A. R.

Announcement that Hon. S. P. Toimie is to respond to an invitation of the British Columbia Historical Society to address a gathering on the part played by his family in the history of the West should attract a large gathering. Dr. Toimie is the third generation of his family serving in public office. In a country that is historically as young as British Columbia, this is a unique record. His grandfather, Hon. John Work, accompanied James MacMillan on the first expedition to locate a site for a Hudson's Bay trading post on the lower Fraser River. Later, he became an important official in the company's service, and a member of the Legislative Council of Vancouver's Island. Dr. William F. Toimie, the father of Hon. S. P. Toimie, was a member of the Legislature in early provincial days, and was one of the men responsible for the establishment of the first educational system. The record of his son as member for Victoria at Ottawa, as Federal Minister of Agriculture and as Premier of British Columbia, is well known.

Conditions in England are fast returning to normal. This statement has been made and reiterated frequently. Now, however, it is definitely confirmed. London has experienced one of its real, old-fashioned fogs of pre-depression vintage.

In Chicago they do not only do queer things, but they say queer things. The latest oddity in that odd city was a unique confession fostered by the Y.W.C.A. It was arranged that mistress and maid should meet and tell each other just how they regarded one another. Maids said their mistresses talked too much, and mistresses charged their servants with the same failing. For centuries the male of the species has been telling the weaker but more valuable half of mankind the same thing—but it hasn't resulted in marked improvement. The outcome of the Chicago argument will end the same way. It all seems so futile.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald stated in Parliament on its reopening that the outlook for disarmament is not hopeful. Of course, it is not. The more that the armaments of nations are compared the less hope there is for disarmament. In the old bar room days many a fight started just because a would-be peacemaker interposed in an argument and begged the disputants not to fight. It usually ended in a regular scrap. So it is with nations. The suggestion that to bring peace, one nation should reduce its military and naval strength, immediately sets it to comparing its defences with that of its neighbor, and arouses the fear that it will be left at the mercy of a rival.

Two items appeared, side by side, on the front page, yesterday morning. One was headed, "Trying to Stop Leakage of News," and the other, "Plan to Stop Secret Armings." The first was a story to the effect that the naval authorities at Washington were taking precautions to guard the secrets of the armament powers of the fleet. The second story was an account of how Mr. Hugh R. Wilson, United States Minister to Switzerland, was advocating before the Disarmament Conference at Geneva that the fullest publicity should be given to the world on the arms traffic. Truly, democracy is a strange creature.

The Spokane woman who told the court that her husband beat her when he suspected that she was snoring in Morse code to some person, who was listening at a distance, may be the pioneer of a great discovery. The possibility of harnessing snoring is worthy of the attention of industrial engineers. The waste of power in the past in un-harnessed snores has been tremendous. The snortings, the boomings and the whistlings of the snorers of a nation might be utilized to operate fog horns, or be stored for use during the day as traffic signals, or again the vibrations acting on delicate and properly attuned instruments might generate power to run factories. Finally, they might be broadcast, which would be a vast improvement over some of the programmes put on the air late at night.

Among the finer aspects of life that are reported each day, the heroism of civilian airmen who gamble with death to aid others, gives denial to the oft-asserted statement that modern youth is lacking in daring and in gallantry. No knight of olden time battling against odds to win the favor of his lady's smile played a more heroic or romantic part than Pilot Ernest Kubick, flying in bitter and boisterous weather into the frozen wastes of the Far North to bring out to Edmonton for medical attention, a young school teacher suffering from appendicitis at an isolated post 200 miles north of the Alberta capital.

Ten good citizens have obtained employment with the Government. They are entitled to the deepest sympathy. They are going to try and collect arrears of taxes. They will have to hear every possible form of complaint, they will personally Government to those who are delinquent, and they will, therefore, become the recipients of all the things that people would like to say to the administration. These men are entitled to enormous wages. They will earn them.

T. G. S. Chambers Shows Kiwanis Club How Plant Is Grown and Leaves Cured

The development of the Ceylon tea industry, and the methods of cultivating the tea plants and the gathering of the crop, were explained to the Kiwanis Club, Tuesday, by T. G. S. Chambers, deputy commissioner for Western Canada of the Ceylon Tea Bureau.

The equipping of a tea factory on the plantations costs as high as $100,000, said the speaker, while the clearing of the land ready for setting out of the tea plants runs to $400 an acre. There are 250,000,000 pounds of tea a year produced in Ceylon, Mr. Chambers stated.

Ceylon began growing tea in 1860.

MAPLE LEAVES TO SHOW HERE

Winners and Runners-Up in Contest on View Week, January 2-7

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—The nation-wide contest for the most beautiful and for largest maple leaf, conducted by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, for which over 10,000 entries from every province of the Dominion were submitted, and which has recently concluded with the awards of prizes under the terms of the contest, has a sequel with the exhibition of the prize-winning leaves and of others running high in beauty and dimensions.

Commencing today, the first exhibit will be on view at the Union Station, Ottawa, until November 26, after which the exhibit will be sent across Canada and back for show at the principal stations of the two railways. The leaves have already been exhibited in Montreal at the Produced-in-Canada Exhibition held in this city last week.

DATES ANNOUNCED

The exhibit will be shown at the following cities and on the dates mentioned: Toronto Union Station, Nov. 27-Dec. 3; Winnipeg, C.P.R. Station, Dec. 4-13; Brandon, C.P.R. Station, Dec. 13-14; Regina, Union Station, Dec. 15-17; Moose Jaw, C.P.R. Station, Dec. 18-20; Calgary, C.P.R. Station, Dec. 21-26; Vancouver, C.P.R. Station, Dec. 28-Jan. 2; Victoria, B.C.C.S. Dock, Jan. 2-7; Edmonton, C.N.R. Station, Jan. 10-13; Saskatoon, C.N.R. Station, Jan. 14-18; Port Arthur, C.N.R. Station, Jan. 21-23; Port Arthur, C.N.R. Station, Jan. 23-25.

From Port Arthur the exhibit will be brought back East and shown at Saint John Union Station, Halifax Canadian National Station, and Quebec Palais Station.

WINNERS OF AWARDS

First prize for the most beautiful leaf was awarded to Mrs. A. A. Adams, of Oak Bay Mills, with second and third prizes, merged into two seconds, going to Mrs. Guy H. Humphrey, Hampton, Kings County, N.B., and Marshall I. White, Milton West, Ont. The largest leaf prize went to Richard Chambers, 169 West Pender Street, Vancouver, with a specimen of the unbelievable dimensions of 22 1/2 square inches by actual measurement. Second came a leaf of 21 1/2 square inches.

BRITISH PRODUCTION

Out of a total tea production of 900,000,000 pounds a year, 650,000,000 pounds were produced under the British flag. There was a total of $75,000,000 invested in the industry.

This year was being observed as the hundredth anniversary of the introduction of tea growing under British rule. One hundred years ago a British officer brought the first plants from China, where tea had been used for 5,000 years, and planted them in India. From this small beginning the present development had followed, said Mr. Chambers.

By means of the splendid set of pictures which were thrown on the screen, the speaker showed the cultivation of the tea plantations, with the succeeding transfer of the crop from the gathering stage by native employees to the point where it was put in cases and shipped to the London and other world markets for blending purposes.

London was still by far the greatest tea market on the face of the globe.

Hudson Company Announces Programme for Coming Year—Models Are Outlined

WINDSOR, Nov. 21.—Springing a surprise on the assembled national distributor dealer convention here today, Hudson announced the immediate launching of next year's full production programme, stating that the Canadian plant would be making deliveries of a wide range of 1935 Terraplanes and Hudsons within the next few weeks.

ONE MAJOR SURPRISE

Engineering advances in the forthcoming cars will include at least one major surprise for the industry. In styling, streamlining is still further advanced, but without anything rash or radical. The trend, as far as front end lines are concerned, is distinctly towards narrower radiators. Cars are longer, rangler and roomier in the interior, and some models will have three-passenger capacity in the front seat. Unit construction, and high ratio of power to weight are again being emphasized.

RESULTS OF SURVEY

Vice-President Ross MacKinnon announced to the convention the results of a survey which indicates another important upward spurt in retail sales in Canada next year with indications being that it will be general throughout the whole Dominion.

Ben Groseman, of Victoria, B.C., sales manager of Jameson Motors, Limited, is at present here and is inspecting the new model.

PREPARING FOR LONG DEBATES

Private Members' Time Taken to Hasten Passing of India Bill

LONDON, Nov. 21 (CP).—By a vote of 224 to 62, the House of Commons, tonight, passed Premier Ramsay MacDonald's motion, taking away all private members' time during the new session of Parliament, for discussion of the report of the select committee on India and the subsequent Government bill embodying its recommendations.

Prime Minister MacDonald said the India Bill would contain 300 clauses and would undoubtedly take up the bulk of the Government time. Debate on the report itself will be held before Christmas, and second reading of the India Bill, beginning committee stage, between Christmas and Easter. From Easter to the end of July the bulk of the House's time would be occupied with the bill.

SUGGESTS ADJOURNMENT

George Lansbury, Labor leader, was critical of the move to take private members' time away, suggesting a month's adjournment at 50,000 persons.

London Gives Princess Marina Warm Welcome

By BURDETTE JOHNS
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Princess Marina—chic and lovely in fur coat, beige ensemble and flat little sailor hat—came to London today, her trousseau shopping done, to be welcomed by the Royal Family.

Capacity crowds braved wet, foggy weather, the thickest England has had this season, to cheer the future Duchess of Kent both at the railway station and at Buckingham Palace.

A salvo of lusty cheers greeted Princess Marina as she arrived, and uninterrupted applause that followed for half an hour finally led Princess Marina and her fiancé, the Duke of Kent, to appear on the balcony of an upper floor for an ovation lasting three minutes.

As the King and Queen, the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York greeted Princess Marina, the Duke of Kent fidgetted nervously, fingering his silk hat.

GREETED BY FIANCE

The Duke of Kent traveled down to Dover this morning to accompany his future bride to London from her Channel crossing, while the King and Queen braved the yellowish, acid mist to greet her at the railroad station.

Thousands of spectators packed every inch of space in the station and along the route from the station to Buckingham Palace, where Marina and her parents will be guests until the wedding.

On the gangway of the steamer at Dover, the Duke kissed his bride-to-be, and the King and Queen each greeted their future daughter-in-law in the same way.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York also greeted Princess Marina at the station. Then the party, traveling in several automobiles, drove slowly to the palace through packed streets patrolled by police.

FAREWELL AT PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 21 (AP).—Princess Marina waved farewell to Paris today, leaving from the train until it rolled out of the station, taking her to Dover, where Prince George was waiting.

France's real good-bye was given by children en route to school, who cheered her at the station when she arrived with her mother, father and two sisters.

Her party of nine, in addition to the members of her immediate family, included Prince Paul, of Yugoslavia.

All traffic in the Port of Calais was suspended until the Channel steamer carrying the Princess and her party was safely out of the harbor.

the end of July, after which discussion could be resumed until October.

Winston Churchill was of much the same opinion, and Josiah Wedgwood, Labor, thought that before anything at all was done they should await full results of the Indian Assembly elections.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, emphasized that the Government was anxious to give ample opportunity for members to speak on the principles of the India Bill. He wanted to see the utmost freedom of discussion with the single provision the bill must go through. "It must not be indefinitely prolonged because this would be bad for this country and for India," he declared.

OPPORTUNITY OF YOUTH DESCRIBED

Alan Chambers, Federal Liberal Candidate, Addresses Federated Council at Y.M.C.A.

"The impression I want to give the Federated Council of Youth is that it can become a vital factor in the political life of this country, and one that can bring about changes in present conditions. It can even be an influencing factor in international affairs so long as it does not draw its strength from one type of political thought. It must embrace members from all political parties, from all walks of life, and concentrate on a youth programme that will place youth into government, there to bring into realization the idealism of youth."

This was the message given the Federated Council of Youth by Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo Federal riding, at a meeting held last night in the Y.M.C.A. He then reviewed the opportunities presented to youth in their effort to

Organist At Abbey Arriving

News reached the city, yesterday, that Dr. Sydney Nicholson, for some years organist and choirmaster of Westminster Abbey, is to reach the city, on November 30, on his way back from Australia to England, and will be here for several days.

While in Canada he intends to visit and help, in any way possible, choir affiliated to the school of English church music, and hopes, also, that other choirs may be interested in the work he is doing and give him an opportunity to meet them. He will address meetings on the general question of church music, and will be glad to conduct gatherings of choirs in affiliated churches and offer them suggestions concerning the organization of hymn festivals. With this object in view, he is bringing certain necessary music with him to obviate the need of any expense on the part of the choirs concerned.

Dr. Nicholson has been for some time in Australia, where he was invited by the church commission for music, an organization representing all the Australian dioceses. He carries with him gramophone records and lantern slides, which he uses to illustrate some of his lectures.

HISTORIC SITES TO BE MARKED

Five in District Under Consideration of Cowichan Historical Society

DUNCAN, Nov. 21.—The Cowichan Historical Society held its annual meeting last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McKensie, K. F. Duncan, the president, occupied the chair and reviewed the work of the society during the past year. Last year's officers were re-elected en bloc, the officers being: John N. Evans, honorary president; K. F. Duncan, president; W. M. Dwyer, first vice-president; Archdeacon Collier, second vice-president; Miss Kate Robertson, secretary-treasurer; Hugh Savage, editor.

A report from the committee on marking historic sites was brought in by O. T. Smythe. Action was deferred until the next meeting, when plans for financing the project will be considered.

Five historic sites in the district are under consideration for marking, the plan being for a cairn carrying a lettered brass tablet showing the interesting feature of the site. The approximate expenditure would be $50.

A most interesting feature of the evening was an exhibition of water colors by Arthur Pitts, who for the past thirteen months has been making a study of Indian "types" in Southern Alaska, in Interior British Columbia, on the Queen Charlotte and in Cowichan. The exhibition was accompanied by a most interesting talk by the artist on the variance in type of the Indians and on their totems and native costumes, which were beautifully illustrated in his paintings.

"A man cannot be in two places at once," remarked the fisheries official, "but I have come here today to meet any and all delegates of the

"Will you kindly convey my sincere thanks and appreciation to the committee of the Women's Workroom for the benefit and kindness I have received through their untiring efforts in establishing the Workroom," one worker wrote.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE
"I beg to state how grateful I am to all concerned for the opportunity of being able to survive through this great depression," said another, in the course of a note of thanks.

"I hereby wish to express my thanks for all the kindness and consideration which has been given me as a worker in the Workroom, and can truly say that such employment has been a life-saver during these hard times, and I for one very much appreciate same," wrote still another.

Either new or old materials will be much appreciated. Even old hats and stockings are useful. Some of the most effective materials manufactured have been made with scraps of hat felt. Old sweaters, wool, skirts, coats are suggested.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT
By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

PREPAREDNESS IN THE BIDDING

The backbone of the Culbertson system is the approach principle, which, in essence, states that suits are to be shown and as much information as possible exchanged at the lower levels of bidding. A corollary of this principle is the policy of not raising without adequate trump support.

However, under the principle of preparedness many established rules must occasionally be broken. The principle of preparedness in the bidding is merely the result of the natural desire of the good bidder to keep out of troublesome situations and to avoid getting into bidding jams. It is the principle that one should look ahead in the bidding and anticipate the various possible responses which his partner may make in order that he may pick his own bids properly when faced with a choice.

A very good example of preparedness is seen in the following situation. Your partner, as dealer, opens the bidding with one spade and the next hand passes. Your holding is:

Spades J 5 4
Hearts 7
Diamonds A J 6 4 3
Clubs J 10 5 4

On this hand you have less than adequate trump support for your partner's spade, but with over one honor trick and good distribution you do not wish to pass. The automatic thoughtless response would be two diamonds. However, if you look ahead in the bidding you will see that this bid cannot possibly do any good. You admittedly have a weak hand and you desire only to give one chance to your partner; you do not wish to make any subsequent rebids. If you bid two diamonds on this hand you will, if you do not overbid by showing spade support later, be concealing from your partner the semi-fit which may be the making of the hand. Therefore, since you are giving just one chance, why not give it where the chief hope of game seems to lie?

For instance, suppose your partner's original spade bid consisted of:

Spades A Q 10 9 5 4
Hearts 7 4 2
Diamonds K 5
Clubs A Q

Even though he has a pretty good hand, over two diamonds he can do nothing but simply rebid his spades. You, with your meagre holding, will now be forced to pass and a lay-down game will have been missed. Had you bid two spades right over one spade, however, South, knowing that the hands fit, would have been able to jump to four spades.

You may say that this is all well and good, but four spades could have been reached by bidding two diamonds and then over two spades raising to three. However, your partner's one and two-spade bids might have been made on the following hand:

Spades A K 9 5 4
Hearts K 5
Diamonds 7 4 3
Clubs K 6 4

With this hand the opening bidder would bid two spades over two diamonds and then, if you raised to three spades, would be justified in gambling on four. A contract of four spades on this hand would be hopeless even with the best possible division of cards, and, if the cards were divided badly, might go down as much as three or four tricks. But if, with the same original holding, you simply bid two spades over one spade, the opening bidding, of course, would now pass and you would be at a safe contract.

Again, suppose that the opening spade bidder responds to your takeout of two diamonds, not with two spades, but with two no trump. Naturally, with your 5-4-3-1 distribution you cannot stand a no trump contract, and, looking for a safe out, you now bid three spades. However, your partner cannot possibly read your three-spade bid as a rescue. He reads it as a strength showing bid and as an inferential force. His holding may be something like:

Spades A K 5 4
Hearts K J 5
Diamonds Q 5
Clubs K 6 4 2

and he may be very glad to go on to game. But whether he chooses to bid three no trump or four spades, you find yourself at a hopeless game contract. Had you responded with two spades, your partner would have made one rebid of two no trump. Over two no trump you could have bid three diamonds and your partner would have known you had a weak hand, as otherwise you would have shown your diamond suit in the first place. Over three diamonds the opening bidder will either pass or bid three spades to give you one more chance. You will pass and you will at least have stopped under game, and in addition the opponents almost certainly will not double.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Easton, Basil Avenue, and Mr. William S. Erith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Erith, Newton Street.

Large baskets, filled with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums, were used in decoration of the church, the guest pews being marked with large bows of white tulle and bunches of chrysanthemums, the artistic handiwork of Mrs. C. A. Goodwin, who also sang a solo, "Calm as the Night," as the register was being signed.

Mr. John Smith presided at the organ and played the wedding marches, and the "Chimes" as the wedding party entered the vestry.

PRETTY BRIDE
The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely frock of white transparent velvet, cut on long lines, the skirt flaring to a slight train. The bodice, which was fastened down the back with velvet buttons, was fashioned with a V-yoke and coal neck, and the long light sleeves tapered to a point over the wrists and were also fastened with tiny velvet buttons. Her veil, of white tulle, was attached to a coronet of rose point lace, and held at the nape of her neck with a strand of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Talsman roses showered with swansons.

Miss Georgina Mackay was the only bridesmaid, and wore a frock of burnished gold velvet, with a metallic yoke and a jacket to match, made with dolman sleeves. Her hat, of black net, was trimmed with gold sequins and was worn with a nose veil edged with gold. She carried a sheaf of source d'or chrysanthemums.

The best man was Mr. Gordon Robson, and acting as ushers were Mr. John A. Easton and Mr. George Gordon.

Wedding Is Celebrated At St. Andrew's Church

Lovely Autumn Flowers Form Setting for Ceremony—Miss Annie McKenzie Marries Mr. William James Florence, Both of Victoria

In a charming setting of chrysanthemums in Autumn colors, arranged in artistic baskets, the wedding took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last evening at 8:30 o'clock of Annie, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David McKenzie, 2821 Shelbourne Street, and Mr. William James Florence, only son of Sergeant and Mrs. James G. Florence, 2415 Quadra Street.

Rev. J. S. Patterson conducted the service in the presence of a large congregation, during which the bride and groom stood beneath a floral archway. Mr. Jesse Longfield played the wedding music, and as the register was being signed, Mr. Nelson Hicks sang "Beloved, It Is Morn." Large bunches of chrysanthemums, tied with white bows, marked the guest pews.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely model form-fitting gown of ivory satin with a long train. The bodice was made with a yoke of lace and a choker collar of satin rosettes, and long tight sleeves with cuffs of rosettes. Her veil of bridal tulle fell in filmy folds over the train and was held to her head by a wreath of orange blossoms, with a cluster over each ear, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Evelyn Florence, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a pretty frock of mauve and violet net and a silver and mauve hat of the same material, and carried a sheaf of mauve chrysanthemums. The flower girl was little Shirley May Clarke, in a period frock of Nile green taffeta made with full sleeves and rows of ruffles edging the long skirt. She wore a bow of green ribbon in her hair and carried a Colonial posy.

The best man was Mr. David McKenzie, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Mr. Alexander Main and Mr. William Holman.

WEDDING RECEPTION

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, where mauve, pink and white featured the decorations. Mrs. McKenzie wore a gown of black velvet trimmed with silver, and a matching hat, and Mrs. Florence a frock of plum-colored crepe and a black silk turban and veil, and they both wore corsage bouquets of bouvardia and carnations. The bride and groom stood beneath a canopy of pink, white and mauve streamers and a decorated white bell, between baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums, to receive the good wishes of their friends, and later supper was served from a table arranged with silver vases of rosebuds, and centred with the three-tiered cake set in folds of mauve tulle.

After a honeymoon on the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Florence will make their home at 313 Walter Avenue. The bride went away in a brown crepe dress trimmed with gold and a brown muskrat coat and felt hat and brown suede shoes.

CORRECTING POSTURAL DEFORMITIES

Before we attribute any abnormal condition in the child to faulty posture, we must have him thoroughly (I say "thoroughly," as the usual examination by the adult doctor is cursory in the extreme), examined by the child's physician regularly. The child's doctor will take into consideration any defective environment influences, including the attitude and temperament of those who care for the child, and any defects in diet and faults in eating and sleeping habits, also the details of personal hygiene.

The most important measures for correction are: (1) To take deep breathing exercises and establish regular habit of more adequate breathing. This is the most natural and effective method of correcting and preventing faulty posture.

Deep breathing exercises are taken for ten minutes morning and night, in front of an open window, allowing the stimulating fresh cold air to play on the bare skin. These fresh air baths tone up the muscles and thus strengthen the body. (No mother, he will not catch cold. No fresh air in itself was ever responsible for a child catching cold.) Take from four to six respirations a minute.

(2) Prescribed exercises — these should always be given under the direction of the child's physician. The child being aided by a physical education expert or the parent. Many fathers, with a rather prominent "thank you, ma'am" would also benefit greatly thereby. This brings a story to my mind, but there is no space for it.

Tomorrow's article: "More on Corrective Postural Deformities."

CATHOLIC

This evening the Catholic Young People's Club will hold its study club. A short period will be devoted to reading and discussing the Pope's Encyclical on the "Christian Education of Youth." Dancing will be held at the conclusion of the study.

Last Thursday a successful social evening was held by the club. A capacity audience enthusiastically greeted the presentation of a one-act play, "Do Men Gossip?" by the members of the dramatic branch of the club. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed until 12 o'clock.

In the club bowling league, the Panthers are out in front, having won eight games and lost one. They are closely followed by the Little Wonder team, in second place, while the Panthers are in the third position.

Badminton Club Arranging Dance

With a splendid programme of music and novelties planned and with arrangements well under way, it is expected the Y.M.C.A. Club dance, which will be held next Tuesday at Spencer's badminton hall, 733 View Street, will prove a great attraction.

One of the features of the evening will be an eccentric dance given by Francis and Oliver.

Miss Merle North will be the convener, and members of the committee in charge of arrangements are Miss May Warnock and Miss Ruth Lees.

SUNSHINE INN HAS SURPLUS

More Than 3,700 Meals
Served During October—
Grand Total 253,234

The financial statement of the Sunshine Inn for the month of October showed an income of $206.04 and a cash outlay of $172.08, which leaves a surplus for the month of $33.96.

A total of 3,754 meals were provided during the month, which brings the grand total to 253,234, of which 6,991 have been given to women, and 46,288 meals to children. The Inn has been in operation for 1,632 consecutive days.

On November 1, the serving of the breakfast meal was reinstated and there will be two meals provided daily until April 30. The breakfast is served between the hours of 9:30 and 10:30 a.m., and the afternoon meal between 3 and 4:30. While the Inn had been serving the afternoon meal, only, during the months of July 1 to October 31, it was customary and known to the applicants, that those in need and unable to provide themselves with breakfast, could be applying to the manager, receive an order on a restaurant. This privilege was taken advantage of to the extent of approximately 100 meals during the four months.

The manager's action of asking unattached able bodied single men to take advantage of the facilities of camp during the winter months, so that the odd work around the city would be available to those who could not leave, and the married men has been endorsed by the committee.

REPAIR BUILDING
Robert Mayhew, of the Sidney Roofing Company, provided ten gallons of roofing cement, which was required for resurfacing a portion of the roof of the Inn, which was giving trouble and leaking, as a donation.

The inside of the Sunshine Inn has been painted throughout with one coat of "Satin Glow," the paint being provided as a gift from J. C. Penderay, and the work of putting it on, by Jeff King, an unemployed man who has had meals at the Inn. The following donations were acknowledged: W. T. Andrews, $5; Mrs. C. Hartley, $5; John A. Grant, $5; children's play, "Wanted a Wizard," produced at 1278 St. David Street, $4; Mrs. D. C. Colclough, $1.20; A. Booth, $3; S. J. Drake, $2;

WINDOW DISPLAY IS INTERESTING

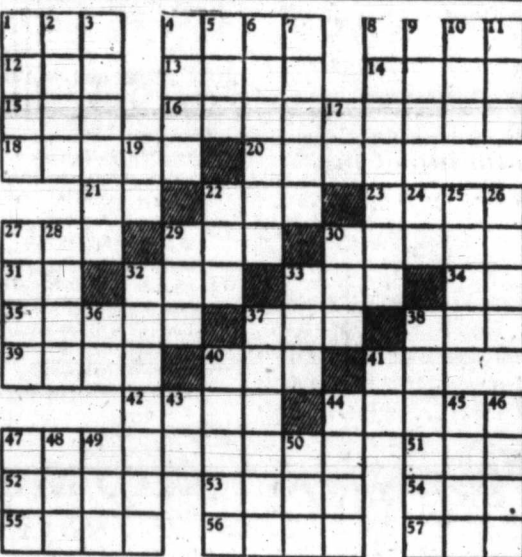

Jameson's Electrical Limited Arranges Exhibit Illustrating Development of Radio Tubes

Illustrating the amazing development in the manufacture of radio tubes, the window display of Jameson's Electrical Limited, at the corner of Douglas and View Streets, is attracting much attention. This window is entered in the Canadian General Electric competition which offers a prize for the best dressed window of radio interest in the Dominion. This prize was won by Jameson's Electrical Limited, in 1933 and in 1934.

General Electric Radiotrons are the feature of the exhibit, stressing the increased efficiency in performance found in this sensational advance of radio engineering. Stripped of technical phraseology, these tubes are designed to give truer reception with greater volume and far less distortion. All trace of squeak in the high notes or vibration in the low has been eliminated. The tubes are smaller than those usual in the past, and are topped with a glass dome which the designers consider add much to the rigidity and uniformity of performance.

Flanking these new Radiotrons are examples of the old-type tubes, some dating back to as early as 1903. One, used by Germany during the Great War, had a normal life of only five minutes. Another is one used by the Royal Air Force. Several old-fashioned transmitting tubes are also shown. Behind the display is a gigantic globe, which opens at intervals, showing a giant Radiotron in the heart, emphasizing the fact that the new General Electric Radiotron covers the world of entertainment.

CHAPTER XL

The oysters were delicious... And Joan said to the children, "Do you know why this is the nicest soup in the whole wide world?" They said together, "No."

"Because it is seasoned with self-sacrifice and flavored with love..." The children sighed with contentment. Dear Joan was the same.

Old John Leonard carved the turkey. It dropped away in melting slices from his knife. He served first his old wife, for whom his life had been spent. She sat beside him. Now and then she laid her hand on the sleeve of his rough coat in a little gesture of tenderness, and always he would turn to her, "My dear," and would touch the thin white fingers.

Joan, watching, felt a pain at her heart. Would Drew ever be like that—all tenderness? would he and she grow old together... loving? Would he have for her then the look in his eyes that came into the eyes of old John Leonard when he turned to his wife?

She knew he would not. If she were old and frail and sick Drew would want none of her. Drew liked her youth, her loveliness. Most men were like that...

Not men like young Giles Armiger. His name leaped in her mind like a flame. Why had she linked him with old John Leonard? What did she know of his tenderness? His constancy? Nothing—except the memory of the things he had said in the dim old bookshop and that dark night of storm in the pavilion...

And the memory, too, of the verse he had found for her... in the time of trouble. He shall hide me, moved about the living-room, lighting the lamps, while Penelope mended the fire. Then, suddenly, Joan found herself clinging to Penelope, and crying as if her heart would break. "My dear, my dear, what has happened?" "Penelope... I'm afraid." "Of what, my dear?" "Of life."

Giles' convalescence was slow. "You need a change," the doctor told him. "Why don't you go south?" Giles shook his head. "I must stay by things here."

"You mean Scripps and his wife?" "Yes." Macdonald considered that "She's no better?" "Sometimes I think she's worse. Of late she has had a grudge against the old gull, Peter. She flies into a rage when I pet him."

"Better keep him out of the way. She might hurt him." "Surely not." "One never knows..." he smoked for a moment in silence, then asked: "You're not hard pressed in money matters?" "No."

"I'd like to try an experiment. But it will be costly." "I have enough and to spare. My tastes are simple. I don't use half my income." "And yet you sell books?" "Why not? It's an ancient and honorable profession. And an outlet for my energies. Since the war I've been tied here. Hard work helps to keep me contented."

"Some men would have taken to sports—golf." "And run with the Summer crowd, the country club set? I prefer the townspeople. They are like

Joan. He found himself beating his fist on the arm of his chair. Even if Amelle was not cured, he must fight for Joan. Hallam would be after her hot-footed now that she had money. And he must not have her.

When his letter had remained unanswered, Giles had tried to get in touch with Joan by telephone. He had called up the Baltimore house, and Jason had answered guardedly that Miss Dudley was out of town. Giles, hanging up the receiver, had thought with bitterness that the heiress must of course be protected. Her address must be given only to those who had the right to know it.

TAKE STOWAWAYS FROM FREIGHTER

Five Held for Deportation While Police Search for Two Who Jumped Overboard

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21 (CP).—Two stowaways of a group of seven, who have been aboard the freighter Langlear since the steamer left Oran, Algeria, three months ago, were missing here today, and it was feared they might have been drowned in an attempt to escape. The other five are held pending deportation when the ship sails for Japan on December 2.

The two missing men attempted to escape by jumping overboard, while police searched the Langlear's holds for their mates, at the request of Captain J. Smith, of Newcastle, England. They may have reached shore, returned to the ship, or been drowned.

Of the five men held, three are Yugoslavs, one is an Italian and the other a Frenchman. Captain Smith attempted to land them at every port of call in India and the Orient, but none would accept them.

UNIT WILL GIVE CONCERT TONIGHT

Newly-Formed Canadian Scottish Entertainment Group to Make Debut at Armories

The first local appearance of the recently formed Canadian Scottish Regiment concert party will be made tonight at 8 o'clock in the Bay Street Armories. The opening concert will take the form of a minstrel show, with Sergeant Percy Derbyshire as interlocutor.

The skills and novel acts seen at rehearsals provoked favorable comment, and with certain edges now rounded off, the programme bids to be one of the liveliest of its type ever presented by a Victoria organization.

The music for the show will be provided by Sergeant Harry Holder and nine members of the regiment. The cast includes C.S.M. W. Warburton, Staff-Sergeant Eric Chalmers, C.Q.M.S. Frank L. Kitto and Sergeants L. McKay, Alexander, Charles Hunt, H. Holder, P. Derbyshire, J. Robertson, Sammy Harrison and others.

SPENCER TRACY PLAYHOUSE STAR

Noted Screen Player Has Lead in "The Show-Off"—"Half a Sinner" Added Attraction

Spencer Tracy, who has skyrocketed to fame in the past two years on the screen, will present his breezy personality on the screen of the Playhouse Theatre starting today, when "The Show-Off," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of the famous stage play, will be the feature attraction. With him appears Madge Evans, who has recently been voted the most popular leading woman in pictures.

"The Show-Off" deals with the comical tribulations that befall a young man who brags too much. As a stage play, the story broke all attendance and long-run records in New York and has been played in virtually every city in the United States and England.

Joel McCrea, leading player in Universal's "Half a Sinner," with Berton Churchill and Sally Blane, in the cast of the added feature, said he would never marry an actress and then fell head over heels in love with Frances Dee.

Two Stories on Columbia Screen

The improbability of youth, and the struggle of a young couple against dire poverty, form the basis for the story of "Little Man, What Now?" Frank Borzage's Universal drama which comes to the Columbia Theatre today starring Margaret Sullavan who is supported by Douglas Montgomery.

Married almost entirely without savings, the youngsters struggle along on the bare pittance which the boy earns as a clerk, only to have their income cease entirely when he loses his job.

But Hans and Lammchen, in spite of their worries, lose neither hope nor happiness. They are young—and they have each other. And eventually they come upon a solution of their problems.

"To the Last Man," showing as the added feature, is Esther Ralston's first American picture in three years. She has been in England during the interim, working for a British studio. In "To the Last Man," a Zane Grey story, filmed by Paramount, she is featured with Randolph Scott, Buster Crabbe and Jack LaRue.

Robert Donat, young English screen and stage star who plays the title role in Reliance's million dollar production of "The Count of Monte Cristo" showing Saturday at the Capitol Theatre, had difficulty getting accustomed to four things in Hollywood.

"NO LAGS IN REVUE" SAYS PAPER CRITIC

"There is not one lagging moment throughout this entire show," says the theatrical critic of The Vancouver Sun, in speaking of the revue "Artists and Models," which will open at the Empire Theatre tomorrow and show also on Saturday and Monday. "With Joe Marcan in the role of master of ceremonies, it is one of the best programmes seen here in a long while," the critic wrote.

Acrobatic dancing and good harmony singing are the features of this revue. One Thousand Pounds of Harmony, four young men with extremely good voices, sing four songs in the best "Mills Brothers" manner. Geraldine Ross, a beautiful dancer, does some remarkable acrobatic "stunts" as well.

Sanna and Loomis in "Monkey Shines" are the comic stars of the revue. Margaret Mills and George Hall present some clever singing, dancing and comedy.

CROSSING ATLANTIC ON MAIDEN PASSAGE

MARSEILLE, France, Nov. 21 (AP).—France's crack new transatlantic air liner, the Santos Dumont, hopped off at Marignane air base today for Dakar, Senegal, on its maiden trip to South America.

Joan Cried as if Her Heart Would Break.

The words comforted her in the days of stress and readjustment which had followed the funeral. They had been like a kind voice speaking... a kind hand held out.

When dinner was over, Joan said, "Now everybody help clear away, and then we'll open all the boxes." She had brought dozens of parcels when she had arrived, and they were shut in the sitting-room, the children having instructions not to look at them. "And really," Joan had told them, "you can't tell anything from the outside. The big ones aren't the most interesting. It's the little ones which are the best."

The clearing-away was most exciting. Even old John Leonard went back and forth with dishes. Penelope had pans of hot suds, and Evelyn had relays of fresh towels, and before they knew it the dishes were done, young John had put fresh logs on the sitting-room fire, and there they all gathered in a circle.

And Joan said, "Will somebody play Santa Claus?" And old John Leonard said, "You must play Santa Claus yourself."

And Joan said, "But I haven't a red coat or a white beard." And Cilla said with eagerness, "You could have a red wreath," so she and John ran away together, and when they came back, Joan's head was bound with a red ribbon, with a bunch of holly berries at each side, and as young John said, from her neck up she looked like Christmas.

Then the boxes were opened and out from them came books for old John Leonard, a warm light rug of imported plaid for his wife, for Evelyn a beautiful fur set to set off her simple suit, and for the children everything that was lovely and gay and that they had wished for all their lives.

"Oh, darling, darling," Cilla sang over her wrist watch, and young John, bright-eyed and solemn with happiness laid his cheek against Joan's and said, "You're nicer than a princess."

And Joan was very happy in her wreath of red and in the happiness she was giving to others. And it was not until she was going home with Penelope that she grew afraid again. It was growing dark as they neared the house, and a grey sky hung over a sullen sea. Joan knew that when she entered the house she would have to face her thoughts. To look into the future. To plan—with that awful feeling of doubt. That awful feeling of futility. They had said she was unchanged, but she knew it wasn't true. She would never be the same again—never!

They descended from the car, and walked up the path together. They opened the door and went in. Joan

STATES MINING IS ON UPGRADE

Robert Dunn Tells Round Table Club of Great Activity in Gold Circles

British Columbia's mining industry is definitely on the up grade, with gold production leading the way, Robert Dunn, deputy Provincial Minister of Mines, told a dinner-meeting of the Round Table Club, Tuesday night, at Speedie's Cafe.

Last year the province's total gold production amounted to slightly less than $6,000,000, while this year it is estimated that it will reach an approximate value of $11,500,000, the speaker said.

BASIC INDUSTRY

Speaking of mining as one of the most important basic industries of British Columbia, Mr. Dunn dealt with its history and present-day status. He said that mining began eighty years ago in the province, and during the years since then the total value of minerals produced has been $1,331,647,132. Today, British Columbia leads the Dominion in the production of silver, lead and zinc.

The speaker pictured, in graphic style, the glamorous days of the early gold rushes, especially those of the Queen Charlotte Islands, Fraser River, Cariboo, Leech River and Klondike.

GOLD ACTIVITY

From small beginnings, which many times netted the original prospectors but a few dollars, mines here were developed to such an extent that in 1929 the total value of all metals produced, in the single year, amounted to $66,000,000, a peak which has not since been reached. Mr. Dunn told the gathering. For three successive years the production went down, but in 1933 there was a noted increase, chiefly due to increased interest in gold. Activity in this special field is continuing, stated the speaker, who believed that it would continue for a considerable time.

Dr. C. N. Westwood, prior to Mr. Dunn's address, spoke briefly on vocational guidance, with special reference to dentistry.

Pantorium Loses Close Tussle to Visiting Cagers

Local Leaders in the Women's Basketball Section Drop 33-28 Decision to Vancouver Province Fair Sex—Invaders Come From Behind—Dealats and Doo-Dads Triumph

GLADYS MUNTON

Battling every inch of the way, Coach Alan LeMarquand's Pantorium cagers, undefeated in local league fixtures, went down to a 33-28 defeat, yesterday evening, at the Victoria High School gymnasium, at the hands of the Vancouver Province quintette, last year's British Columbia champions, in an exhibition fixture.

Holders of the provincial title for the past two seasons, the well-balanced aggregation of hoopers from the Mainland city found plenty of stiff opposition in the local quintette, playing together for its first year. The locals made a creditable showing against the visitors, who owe their margin of victory to the beautiful long shots they sank from almost centre floor.

After a slow first quarter, in which the locals gained a 9-4 lead, play speeded up in the next canto, and in less than two minutes Province had come from behind and tied the score at 12-12. There was no additional scoring for some minutes, and just before Edna Downie scored from the centre of the floor, Kay Annan left the court on four personal.

VISITORS TAKE LEAD
This long shot by Downie put the Mainlanders out in front for the first time during the game, and from then on they were never headed.

Edna Downie tipped the leather home from the side of the court, and then Mary Wilson scored for Victoria just before the half-time whistle, and when the players left for the dressing-rooms the score stood 16-14 in favor of The Province.

Mary Peden, sharp-shooting Victoria forward, raced up the side of the court and tied the score seconds after the third quarter started, but the visitors came back and Selly Gilmore placed them again in the lead. Pantorium added three more points before the quarter ended, while The Province scored ten, and as the period ended the Mainlanders were leading by a 28-19 score.

With four minutes to go and the count 30-24 in favor of the visitors, Pantorium lost Gert Taylor and then Ruby Bethel on personals. However, the locals fought gamely as the game reached its conclusion, with The Province winning the fixture by five points, the final score being 33-28.

DEALATS COME THROUGH
Dealats, undefeated intermediate "A" boys' quintette, ran up their fifth straight victory of the season when they defeated Kilmarnock-Gillette, 37-17, in the second game on the programme. The winners were leading 15-8 at the rest interval.

Doo-Dads, men's "C" hoopers, took the Hudson's Bay into camp in the opening game, when they chalked up a 37-21 victory, the fourth of the season, over the departmental score quintette.

Tommie Macdonald and "Ollie" Goldsmith handled the games, and the teams follow:

Vancouver Province—Edna Downie (6), Gladys Munton (2), "Ollie" Ralston (9), Sally Gilmore (2), Kay Annan, Nancy Smethurst (3), Mary Code (8) and Freda Iden (3). Total 33.

Pantorium—Mary Peden (16), Eileen Bernard, Lucille Sparks (3), Mary Wilson (7), Gert Taylor, Ruby Bethel (1), Eleanor Trotter, Peggy Carney and Frances Strain (1). Total 28.

Dealats—Robb (6), Coates (4), Taylor (4), McLean (4), Lansdell, Campbell (6), Sheppard (11), and Naysmith (2). Total 37.

Kilmarnock-Gillette—Anderson (3), Edge (4), McConnell, Turner (4), Phillips (6), Allan, Berry, Dale and McConnell. Total 17.

Doo-Dads—Bradley, Rawlins, Ewing (4), Mowat (3), Morrison (10), Robertson (2), N. Morgan (14), E. Morgan and Stirrup (4). Total 37.

Hudson's Bay—Baxter (5), Williamson, Kennedy (2), McIlwain (7), Stewart (2), Frumento, Richards (2), Brown (3). Total 21.

AMERICANS HOLD SWAY
Capture Seven Out of Eight Matches in Melbourne Golf Tourney

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 21 (AP).—With one exception, the $5,000 Melbourne Centenary professional golf championship became an all-American affair today, with invaders from the United States winning seven of the eight opening-round matches.

Ky Lafoon, the young sensation from Denver, missed a three-foot putt on the thirty-seventh green and was eliminated from the match play tournament by Martin Smith, of Victoria, the sole surviving home-bred contender for the first prize of $2,500.

While Lafoon fell by the wayside, Jimmy Thomson, of Los Angeles, winner of $5,000 in the Centenary seventy-two hole open, last week, squeaked through with a one-up victory over Rufus Stewart, portly South Australian shotmaker.

Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N.Y., American professional titleholder, scored the most lopsided victory of the day, swamping Sam Richardson, of New South Wales, 11 and 9.

PETERS RIDES 204TH WINNER
BAY MEADOWS TRACK, SAN MATEO, Calif., Nov. 21 (AP).—Maurice Peters, leading jockey of this country this year, rode Levala, owned by H. Herendeen, to victory today in the feature race at Bay Meadows track. It boosted Peters' string of winners to 204 for 1934.

Gertie ran second and Aloching third. The time for the six furlongs was 1:16 2-5. Levala, after running head and head with Dirigible most of the way, pulled out in the stretch to win by two lengths. The tiring Dirigible was outworn in the finish. The track was muddy.

Levala paid $18.50 and $4.50. Gertie returned $4.40 and $3.40 and Aloching $4.60.

George Renfro, a long shot, came home in the second race to return $102.20, $48.20 and $18.20. The horse was ridden by T. Sena.

Proven Worth of the Graf Zeppelin—Much doubt exists in the minds of both the public and aeronautical engineers as to the practicability of the Zeppelin type of aircraft. Possibly that is because of the ill-luck several of the world powers have experienced with that type of craft. Yet, Dr. Hugo Eckener, one of the foremost advocates of air travel, has set up a remarkable record of convenience and safety with his Graf Zeppelin.

The Graf has now been in service for many years and has never had a serious accident although it has made a world cruise, Arctic cruise and dozens of other exploratory trips and has actually crossed the Pacific Ocean once, the Arctic Sea once, and the Atlantic Ocean seventy-two times. She has just completed a third Summer of successful air travel between Europe and South America, having made a round trip every two weeks for three years during the Summer season. The Graf crossed the North Atlantic seven times.

Scotland Beats Wales XI 3 to 2 In International

Napier Nets Two Goals and Assists in Third as Scottish Noses Out Rivals in Football Fixture Before 25,000—Winners Lead at Interval—Duncan Plays Great Game

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Nov. 21 (CP).—Scotland defeated Wales by 3-2 in their international soccer match here this afternoon before a crowd of 25,000 persons. It was the third international match of the season. England having beaten Wales in the first and Ireland having beaten Scotland in the second. The match was played in crisp weather on a firm, fast pitch. Scotland had a 1-0 lead at half time.

Scotland put on an attack shortly after the kick-off when Walker gave a fine pass to McCulloch whose low shot, however, was splendidly saved by John. Wales retaliated immediately and their drive wound up with Phillips shooting. McCulloch just tipping the ball outside the post.

Duncan was conspicuous with his speedy runs. John saved pile-driving shots from Massie and Napier, but Duncan scored in the twenty-seventh minute from close in, on a pass from Napier. The ball struck John's leg and glanced into the net, leaving the goalkeepers helpless. Half time; Scotland 1, Wales 0.

NAPIER TALLIES
Duncan made a dazzling run right after the resumption and centred to Cook, but the latter's drive was stopped by John. Napier however, had no difficulty in netting from six yards out right afterwards.

The Welshmen introduced offside tactics and showed improvement, trapping McCulloch several times. Phillips finally scored for Wales after tricking Anderson.

The game opened up and Napier netted Scotland's third goal as the result of magnificent inter-passing with Duncan. Wales replied with a counter from Astley, but they were unable to get the equalizing goal before the final whistle.

The teams were as follows: Wales: John (Preston), goal; Lawrence (Swansea) and Jones (Leicester), backs; Murphy (West Bromwich), Hanford (Swansea) and Richards (Wolves), halfbacks; Hopkins (Brentford), Williams (Newcastle), Astley (Aston Villa), Mills (Leicester) and Phillips (Wolves), forwards.

Scotland: McCulloch (Motherwell), goal; Anderson (Hearts) and McGonigle (Celtic), backs; Massie (Hearts), Simpson (Rangers) and Brown (Rangers), halfbacks; Cook (Bolton), Walker (Hearts), McCulloch (Hearts), Napier (Celtic) and Duncan (Derby), forwards.

SARNIA PLAYS ACCORDING TO THE WEATHER

Imperials Will Use Style Most Fitted for Conditions in Final

SARNIA, Ont., Nov. 21 (CP).—Sarnia Imperials, who hold the Eastern Rugby crown and have an eye on Dominion honors, play their football according to the weather. Coach Art Massucci is authority for this statement, which came as he took time out from his worries today to discuss just how his husky charges will handle Regina Rough-riders in the Dominion final at Toronto Saturday.

After frankly admitting he hadn't the slightest idea what type of football ammunition he would toss at Roughriders, Massucci declared: "It's like this—if it is a muddy field we certainly will not use the same attack as on a dry field. If the wind is blowing we will adopt an other attack and if the field is fast we have still another."

And Massucci expressed no doubt about having the material for every style of play.

"Take a look at our resources. We have Stirling who will outkick anything in Canada. If we elect to run the ends, who can compare with Hayes and Perry, and Norm Beach and Bummer Stirling will hold their own with any plungers in the game."

DEPENDS ON WEATHER
Sarnia's cautious game that defeated Hamilton Tigers for the Eastern Canadian crown was recalled and Massucci was asked if he would consider resorting to an open game. The weather appeared again.

"We are equipped for any kind of weather with a subtle method of attack," he said. "Until the game in Hamilton Saturday our defensive play had been something of an unknown quantity. We have seldom used it and, the truth of the matter is, I incline to believe the strongest defence is an offensive."

The team Sarnia hopes will capture the town's first Dominion crown trotted out on the field for a thirty-minute signal drill today. Norm Perry and Ted Moore were practicing over the field during the drill, and Harry Smith, casualty from last Saturday's Eastern final, is expected to make an appearance as soon as he departs from hospital tomorrow.

HEADING EAST
WINNIPEG, Nov. 21 (CP).—Regina Roughriders, sixteen times champions of Western Canada, tonight were on their way to Toronto to battle Sarnia Imperials in the queen city Saturday for the senior Rugby championship of the Dominion.

Stopping off here en route East, the Regina outfit was given a rousing reception on arrival and a hearty send-off when they resumed their journey. Scores of Winnipeg supporters came along to express best wishes to the Riders in their bid for the Dominion title.

Guests at a luncheon, the Riders heard Winnipeg Rugby leaders express confidence the Regina outfit would put up at least a good battle even if they did not succeed in winning the game.

Big Ten authorities were convinced that the game, which its sponsors plan for Ohio State's huge double-decked stadium December 1, with a possible attendance of 81,000, would never materialize.

While Ohio enthusiasm, led by Governor George White, was bending every effort to enlist the interest of Governor Floyd Olson, of Minnesota, and others in such a game, various conference officials said they saw no possibility of its ever being played.

JOHNSTON TO MEET NENOFF
Steve Nenoff, Bulgaria's wrestling ambassador, who spends considerable of his time slapping and punching his way around in the squared circle, will have an able opponent in the rough stuff when he climbs over the ropes, over the ropes, over the ropes, Saturday evening, at the Tillicum gymnasium, to meet Gus Johnston, Rockford wrestler, in the semi-windup of Promoter Fred Richardson's grappling programme.

Johnston first made his appearance here about a year ago and showed considerable class in his bout with Herb Parks, sensational Vancouver wrestler, and many other of the leading men in the Tillicum gymnasium. Past, clever and well-versed in the many holds of the grappling game, Johnston should give Mr. Nenoff an interesting time.

NENOFF COLORFUL
Veteran of many fierce battles with some of the world's leading mat men, Steve Nenoff is another of those colorful grunts and growl experts, who, because of his rough tactics, is not exactly popular with the fans. However, when Nenoff is in the ring there is always something doing, and usually Steve is doing his share.

Johnston is a clean wrestler, but has a bag of tricks equal to those carried by the foxy Bulgarian, which suggests that when Bulgarian meets Swede there should be plenty of fireworks.

With McDonald and Bob Wagner billed for the main event, and Nenoff and Johnston in the semi-windup, wrestling fans who make their way to the Tillicum gymnasium should witness a really good card.

San Francisco Boy Goes to Yanks

JOE DIMAGGIO

SENSATIONAL outfielder of the San Francisco Seals, who was obtained by the New York Yankees, of the American Baseball League, yesterday, at the big meeting in the East. Dimaggio came to the Manhattan club for five players, and is expected to be groomed for Babe Ruth's place in rightfield. The Coast star set a record last season by hitting safely in sixty-one consecutive games. He is young and considered one of the best, fly-chasers, as well as hitters, seen in the Coast League for several seasons.

Jumbo Davies Gets Verdict In Close Bout

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP).—Jumbo Davies, stocky blond-haired fighting machine from Victoria, B.C., punched his way through eight rugged rounds here tonight to a close decision over Jimmy Foster, Tacoma, in the main event. Davies showed great form and was in there all the time swapping punch for punch with his American foe. It was a popular verdict with the fans.

JOHNSTON TO MEET NENOFF

Good Semi-Windup Arranged for Saturday's Wrestling Card

Steve Nenoff, Bulgaria's wrestling ambassador, who spends considerable of his time slapping and punching his way around in the squared circle, will have an able opponent in the rough stuff when he climbs over the ropes, over the ropes, over the ropes, Saturday evening, at the Tillicum gymnasium, to meet Gus Johnston, Rockford wrestler, in the semi-windup of Promoter Fred Richardson's grappling programme.

Johnston first made his appearance here about a year ago and showed considerable class in his bout with Herb Parks, sensational Vancouver wrestler, and many other of the leading men in the Tillicum gymnasium. Past, clever and well-versed in the many holds of the grappling game, Johnston should give Mr. Nenoff an interesting time.

MINNESOTA AND OHIO WILL NOT MEET THIS YEAR

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP).—Enthusiasm for another dream game of the gridiron—a post-season battle between Minnesota's mighty array and Ohio State's spectacular Buckeyes, for charity—tonight crashed headlong into a Western Conference rule prohibiting such a contest.

Big Ten authorities were convinced that the game, which its sponsors plan for Ohio State's huge double-decked stadium December 1, with a possible attendance of 81,000, would never materialize.

While Ohio enthusiasm, led by Governor George White, was bending every effort to enlist the interest of Governor Floyd Olson, of Minnesota, and others in such a game, various conference officials said they saw no possibility of its ever being played.

FORMER BALL STAR OF ST. LOUIS DIES

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 21 (AP).—Fred M. Glade, who in 1904 set an American Baseball League strike-out record by fanning six batters in a single game while a member of the pitching staff of St. Louis Browns, died at his home here today.

TOMMIES REGISTER 3-2 VICTORY OVER OUTER WHARF TEAM

Work Point Aggregation Is Handed Two "Gift" Goals in Narrow Win Over Rangers—Navy Shows Fine Form in Trouncing Hudson's Bay, 6-1—Spencers Blank Maccabees

HAYWARD CUP SERIES
	W.	L.	D.
Garrison	4	1	9
Navy	4	2	8
Hudson's Bay	3	1	8
Rangers	3	3	7
Spencers	1	2	3
Maccabees	0	6	1

Next Week's Games—Garrison vs. Navy, Work Point Barracks; Outer Wharf Rangers vs. Spencers; Heywood Avenue; Hudson's Bay vs. Maccabees, Royal Athletic Park.

Checking in with a 3-3 victory over a fighting Outer Wharf Rangers eleven yesterday afternoon at Beacon Hill, a well-balanced Garrison football team from Work Point Barracks slipped quietly into first place in the Hayward Cup series, one point in front of the Hudson's Bay, former leaders, and the Navy. The sailors ousted the Rangers from second position by virtue of their 6-1 victory over the green and gold-sweated aggregation at Admirals Road. The defeat, the first of the season for the Hudson's Bay, came as a mild surprise to mid-week followers. At Heywood Avenue, Spencers broke their first when they registered their initial victory of the season by humbling the Maccabees, 4 to 0.

GARRISON WINS, 3-2
With the Rangers' defence playing the role of Santa Claus and scoring twice in their own net, the Garrison, sadly off color, received a handsome Christmas gift in the form of a 3-2 victory at Beacon Hill, upper ground. The boys from the James Bay district, with anything like a scoring line, would have won the fixture with plenty to spare. Time after time they missed easy set-ups in front of the Tommies' goal through poor shooting or by bunching in their opponents' penalty area.

Doing all of the early pressing, the Rangers gained a one-goal lead when L. Gelling, their left winger, and by far their most effective forward, beat Glendenning with a good drive just under the bar.

However, two minutes later the teams were all square again. Breaking fast following the centre, the Garrison gained the equalizing goal when Belford, in attempting to clear Wilkinson's header, booted the ball into his own net.

Ten minutes later, the Tommies received another gift goal when the ball went off "Scotty" Gelling's foot as he tried to clear from the Garrison left winger. Bourne, Rangers' net minder, made a great attempt to save, but the ball got away from him and went into the corner of the net for the final score of the first half.

COOK SCORES
Rangers did most of the offensive work in the second half, but it was the Garrison who netted the first goal thirty minutes after the session started. After S. Bischoff had cleared a Ranger attack, Cook, fleet-footed centre-forward for the Tommies, accepted a pass from McAllister at the right wing and beat Bourne with a well-placed shot in the far corner of the net.

Never letting up and still displaying the fighting spirit, the Outer Wharf Rangers sliced the Garrison's lead a few minutes from time when White scored with a beautiful ground shot in the corner of the goal.

With the score 3-2 against them and visions of a draw not far distant, the James Bay aggregation battled like Trojans to pull the game out of the fire, and when the final whistle sounded they were still pressing.

Shrimpton refereed, and teams follow:

Garrison—Glendenning, H. Bischoff, S. Bischoff, Edwards, Evans, Featherstone, McAllister, Worswick, Cook, Miller and Wilkinson.

Outer Wharf Rangers—Bourne, Eastwood, "Scotty" Gelling, Belford, Magee, Thame, L. Gelling, Anderson, White, Rice and Roskamp.

BAYS SWAMPED
Outplayed in practically every department of the game, Dick Eaton's Hudson's Bay football eleven ran up against a smooth-working Navy machine, yesterday afternoon, on the Admirals Road grounds, and were swamped under by a 6 to 1 score, their first setback since the season went up on the mid-week schedule. In the opening half the green-shirts looked like they might give the sailors an argument, but after the switch over, they became disorganized and were never in the picture. They never did look like a team in the final half as the blue-sweaters, Navy lads, played rings around them. Had the sailors been a little more steady in front of the net the score would have reached double figures.

The sailors played bang-up ball throughout the ninety minutes, and if they can keep the same aggression together for the remainder of the campaign they will be a hard squad to defeat. Their fullbacks, the veteran Alex Whyte and Dovey, turned in stellar performances. Especially the former, whose kicking was all that could be desired. His clearances and covering up were one of the features, while the half line of McDonald, Robinson and Pitcher Ted Carleton.

BLUE RIBBONS DEFEAT ADANACS IN CLOSE BATTLE

Local Hoopsters Stage Big Rally To Gain Victory

Come From Behind in Second Half to Coast to Fine Win Over Royal City Quintette, 37-30—Home Squad Gets Away to Good Lead but Failed to Hold It—Marks Second Win

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 21 (CP).—Victoria Blue Ribbons handed the New Westminster Adanacs a second defeat, tonight, in an inter-city basketball game, at the Royal City. The visitors came out on the long end of a 37-30 score.

Adanacs opened the proceedings and gained a considerable lead over the Victoria squad. The fans got to thinking that the defeat the local boys suffered at the hands of the tea merchants was to be avenged. Wright and Mathison combined nicely to score fifteen points between them in the first half.

Blue Ribbons settled down finally, with Peden and McKeachie showing the way. The visitors cut down the Adanacs' lead, and when the rest came, Adanacs were ahead 21-19.

RIBBONS IN LEAD
The second half was not many minutes old when Blue Ribbons tied the score, and then took the lead, which they never relinquished. Despite sparkling plays by Mayers, who garnered seven points in this half, the Adanacs were unable to gain the lead. Chapman played a steady, heady game, both defensively and offensively. The final whistle found the score 37-30 for the Island squad.

Mathison, Wright and Mayers turned in nice performances for the home aggregation. It would be difficult to single any players out of the Blue Ribbon team, as they all gave a good account of themselves.

Blue Ribbons were without the services of their star, Art Chapman, who was forced to watch the game from the sidelines, owing to an injured arm.

Blue Ribbons—Andrews (8), McKeachie (8), C. Chapman (6), Peden (6), Craig, Martin (7) and Patrick (2)—(37).

Adanacs—R. Mathison (8), Mayers (9), K. Wright (9), Smith (2), Meehan (2), K. McDonald, Douglas, F. Hall—(30).

YANKS OBTAIN JOE DIMAGGIO FROM FRISCO

Sensational Outfielder Goes to New York—May Replace Babe Ruth

By PAUL MICHELSON Associated Press Sports Writer.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 21 (AP).—Baseball's player mart, where the keenest traders of the game try to outguess each other, hummed with conversation and bids today, but the only outstanding deal was checked in by St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians.

The International League waged its battle with the American Association over the play-off plans and Little World Series and refused to confer with the A.A. committee on plans for the series.

So the A.A. chiefs started negotiations with the Pacific Coast League for a Fall series between their respective champions.

While most of the major and minor league traders broke up long conferences by charging each other with attempted larceny, the Indians announced they had sent Pitcher Joe Welland, infielder Johnny Burdett and cash to the Browns in return for Outfielder Bruce Campbell.

None of the involved players was rated as a star of the first dimension, but both Manager Rogers Hornsby, of the Browns, and General Manager Billy Evans, of the Indians, figured they had bargains.

OBTAIN DIMAGGIO

New York Yankees, hot on the trail of an outfielder to replace Babe Ruth, also made a deal with San Francisco whereby the Yankees obtain the sensational Joe Dimaggio, who established the Pacific Coast League record in 1933 by hitting safely in sixty-one consecutive games. There was a catch in that transaction, however, as the Yanks wanted to be sure that Joe was not permanently slowed up by a knee injury last season.

Under the terms, which would give the Yanks a chance to crawl out, they will send five players, three outright and two on option, to San Francisco next Fall, for the Coast League star.

Pirates Buy Pitcher

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 21 (AP).—Pittsburgh Pirates tonight purchased Mace Brown, right-handed pitcher, from Kansas City, of the American Association. Brown, who is twenty-seven, was farmed out to Tulsa last season, where he won nineteen games and lost twelve.

Virginia Vane Says:

ENGAGED FIVE YEARS WITH MARRIAGE PROSPECTS STILL REMOTE—FIANCE SHOULD ALLOW FUTURE BRIDE TO WORK

Dear Virginia Vane: My boy friend and I have been engaged for five years. When we started to go together he was making a good salary, not quite enough to get married on, but his prospects of immediate advancement were so good that we thought to be married within a year of our announcement.

Things have gone from bad to worse, and his present job is without prospects and pays very small wages. Now here is my problem. I am a trained nurse, and I know that I can get a job with very little difficulty, and that with my salary we could get married and could live quite comfortably. My boy friend will not hear of my working after marriage, and says that I do not love him or else I would wait patiently for things to adjust themselves so that we could get married like normal people. I am twenty-seven and he thirty.

Can you tell me what I should do about the matter?—Ursula.

I think your boy friend had better start thinking about your happiness a little bit, rather than his own foolish pride. Five years is indeed a long time to devote to one man, and you must of necessity have lost the association of whatever eligible young men you might have had. Certainly you want to get married; that is where your happiness lies, and you have given up your chance for this happiness with anyone but your present young man. He must be made to realize that he is very much responsible for this happiness, and that the manhood he is so proud about is not showing up well in his present attitude toward your marriage. A real man would have the courage to go ahead and insure your happiness, through marriage, even though things were more unfavorable than they are at present.

Why don't you go out and get your job anyway? You could be putting aside money that would come in very handy. After this marriage, and in addition, it would give you an independence that might bring your friend to his senses quicker than could any other course.

TESTING THE SERIOUSNESS OF A DON JUAN'S ATTENTIONS

Dear Virginia Vane: I am very much interested in a young man of the neighborhood, and he seems to really care for me. He has a reputation as a heart-breaker, and has had many girls. He has never been known to see one girl for more than three months in succession, and as I have been going with him now for almost a year, I feel that perhaps he is being sincere for once.

I am ready to fall really in love with him, as he meets every requirement I have set for a husband, and my only fear is that his fickleness might again cause him to seek new fields to conquer. Do you believe that such a man as this could really be sincere for a lifetime, or would it be better to seek someone more reliable?—Cautious.

It is indeed wise that you be cautious in your association with this Don Juan. Perhaps he has been consistent in his attentions to you for so long simply because you are the first girl that didn't immediately fall for his charm, and your indifference challenged his own opinion of himself as a heart-breaker. Some men are like that, and they campaign for even longer than a year just to make sure their ego isn't hurt. Fickleness, however, is a juvenile trait; that is the kind that you now fear occurs in very young personalities, and it is very possible that your friend has outgrown his desire to shine with all the ladies, and that his attachment to you is worth more to him than the satisfaction he derives from being the heart-breaker.

Of course, one way to find out just how seriously his heart is interested in this affair is to let him think you have succumbed to his irresistible attraction. If it were just a conquest he wanted, you'd soon find it out. Your young man wouldn't hang around long after he felt that he had added you to his long list of conquests. Men that have such a purely selfish attitude in their relations with women cannot stand the responsibility that goes with a really sincere love. Perhaps if you demanded more of his time, made it a point to call him up a few times each week, or in other ways let him think you were dependent on him for your happiness, his reaction would soon determine for you his value as a husband.

The only danger in pretending that you have fallen for him is that you are very likely to forget you are playing a game and really wake up to find yourself desperately in love. It will take constant effort, but you must guard against letting your emotions become involved in your pretensions, and as a matter of fact, even if you should find that this is a genuine affection, it is better that you hold out just a little bit. As long as you hold something in reserve, you will be for him somewhat unattainable. With this type of man it is better that the relationship remain a little uncertain.

At first it would appear that the above course of procedure wasn't quite fair to the young man in the case, but he has proved himself capable of being extremely unfair himself in his affairs with his late girl friends, and you'd better fight fire with fire.

If, after you have put him to the test, he still cares for you, then I am sure he will have outgrown his Don Juan complex and you can be confident of his future sincerity.

M.L.M.: My sympathy goes out for your father in this problem. He has had a much better opportunity to size up this man than have you, and the tolerance of his demands makes me think that he is a very broad-minded person. You would do well to listen to his advice and obey just a few of the restrictions he has made. Get rid of the idea that you are old enough to know your own mind. You didn't know it once before, so how can you expect your people to believe you know it this time?

ORE RECEIPTS AT TRAIL SMELTER

NELSON, Nov. 21 (CP).—Breaking all records for number of custom shippers, properties sending ore or concentrates to Trail Smelter during 1934 reached the total of 133 in the first ten months of the year, a summary of all receipts for 1934 to the end of October, just issued by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, corrected for dry weights, disclosed.

The activity is attributable to the gold market, and the Nelson district has thirty-five shippers, or more than one-quarter of the total number, but a stirring of activity in the "silvery Slocan" also contributes materially to the shipping list, though the tonnage is small, twenty-one Slocan properties or operations being represented. Fifteen shippers sent concentrates, four of them sending crude ore as well. An unprecedented volume of custom ore, for recent years at any rate, moved to the smelter in the ten months, 44,111 tons, dry weight, of which 42,009 tons was crude ore, and 2,102 tons was concentrates. The Consolidated's own tonnage, from the Sullivan, was 371,798, making total receipts for the ten months, 418,909 tons. Almost half of the total custom tonnage was from the Nelson mining division, and approximately a quarter was from the State of Washington.

Railroads of France are intensifying their efforts to effect economies and reduce the rising deficit.
